...S. Panel Given ...ate's Views on Water Resources

...April 8 (AP)—A presidential fact-finding group was ...by three Idaho officials that feasibility of a water ...development should be considered on both state and ...levels.

...nswered a request for their views from the presi...dent's water resources policy commission. The recommendations set forth in a letter to the commission were made by Gov. C. A. Robins, State Land Commissioner Edward Woodley and State Reclamation Engineer Mark H. Kulp.

As far as feasibility of project development is concerned, the officials stressed that financial feasibility should show a reasonable division of anticipated benefits between national and local economy. Under present procedure, local benefits alone are the basis for determination of benefits.

"In most flood control projects the benefits are predominantly local and since the 1936 flood control act, the responsibility and the costs have been mostly national, with small local contributions.

Benefits Assured

"Irrigation benefits under the reclamation laws are assessed against the water users and power revenues from power development incidental to reclamation projects, and except for the interest component are reimbursable by the water and power users.

"Present costs and the fact that the less costly irrigation developments have already been made, make most further irrigation development impossible without further subsidy or assessment of national benefits, if the desirable family size farm unit policy in the disposal of public lands is to be retained.

Produces Wealth

"Reclamation by irrigation is a wealth producing development and a national asset, and the benefits to the national economy may be greater than the local benefits."

They recommended that water resource development should be cooperative between the states and the federal government " . . . so all developments produce benefits to the national and the local economy."

...They added "existing rights should not be clouded by appropriations made in any other manner than the state statory procedure."

"The Idaho officials said, in their opinion, precedence should be given to consumptive uses for domestic, municipal and irrigation purposes.

"Responsibility for repayment of costs should be divided in proportion to national and local benefits. No national procedure has been accepted for the evaluation of benefits other than direct local benefits, and although the relative direct and indirect benefits change with population pressure and national emergencies, a rational method of evaluation should be accepted," they recommended.

Auto Mishap Claims Lives Of 5 Persons

COEUR D'ALENE, April 8 (AP)—Five young people out on a Friday night date were killed at a railroad crossing early today. Their car smashed into the side of a passenger train.

There were three couples in the car. Kay Olson, 17, was the only survivor. She staggered from the wreckage, dazed and bleeding. Her injuries were not believed to be serious.

Engaged to Victim

Her family said Miss Olson became engaged a few hours before the tragedy to Allen Manwelling, 20-year-old University of Idaho student. He was one of the five victims.

The others were Edward Dutro, 20, and Leroy Banks, 20, both of Rathdrum, Ida.; Beatrice Griggs, 16, Coeur d'Alene, and Betty Lou Shuckerberger, 17, Trentwood, Wash. They were identified by Deputy Sheriff John Rasor.

Hits Engine

The auto crashed into a diesel engine about 1:15 a.m. at a highway crossing in the flat farm country nine miles northwest of here. The engine was pulling a three-car train on the Spokane International Railroad at midnight run from Spokane to Yahk, B. C.

The engine was not derailed but its battery box was damaged. Another locomotive was called from Spokane and the train continued on to Yahk. The train crew could not be reached for eye-witness details.

Rasor said Miss Olson could not be questioned immediately.

The smash occurred with such force that it ripped the motor from beneath the hood of the car and threw it 20 feet.

EXPLORER DIES

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—Anthony Fiala, 80-year-old explorer, died today in his Brooklyn home. Fiala accompanied Colonel Theodore Roosevelt on his trip through the Brazilian jungle in 1912-1913 on the famous search for the "River of doubt."

T. F. Children Out in Force For Egg Hunt

An estimated 1,500 youngsters sprinted, tumbled and crawled across the north portion of city park Saturday afternoon during the second annual Jaycee-sponsored Easter egg hunt.

Object of the disorganized search was 360 colored eggs hidden by the Jaycees. The reward was treats for all and 18 white rabbits for the most fortunate.

Jaycee George Dever counted "one, two, three," over a public address system, then added, "Go," and the scramble began. The children had lined up along the curb on Second street east. The crowd extended completely along the length of the park with several overlapping onto Fourth and Sixth avenues east.

The hunt and subsequent handout of treats lasted only half an hour but during that time children literally covered every square inch of grass in the north portion of the park. Jaycees had hidden 30 dozen eggs in the grass. Of these, 18 were painted gold, entitling the finders to receive a fuzzy, pink-eyed white rabbit. Bob Workman, chairman of the hunt, handed out the bunnies. Other members of the committee staging the event handed out colored eggs.

Leaders of LDS Church Call for Sins Repentance

SALT LAKE CITY, April 8 (AP)—General sessions of the 120th annual conference of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) church resumed today, with speakers calling for repentance of sins and pointing to danger in the growth of "monopoly labor unions."

The conference will continue through Sunday.

Dr. Joseph F. Merrill, member of the council of twelve apostles, told the morning session that "office-hungry politicians" within the United States are leading the nation into "industrial slavery."

He added that "monopoly labor unions are a threat to the free enterprise system in this country, and declared that the outlook for peace in the world is becoming darker and more gloomy."

At the afternoon session Marion G. Romney, assistant to the council of twelve apostles, asserted that repentance of sins is one of the world's most vital needs.

"Many sober and learned people in the world today are seeing the need for repentance and are turning to God," Romney said.

He added that time and again in the past when men have faced destruction the Lord has commissioned persons to carry the message to repent.

Easter Brings Lilies, Duckling to Bewilder Youngster

Easter lilies and a baby duckling are a bit bewildering to this youngster, but she seems to be enjoying the Easter egg hunt staged by Jaycees in Twin Falls city park yesterday afternoon. Hundreds of children participated in the hunt. (Staff engraving)

Local Merchants Approve Offer Of 9 Per Cent Levy Rate Slash

Twin Falls merchants accepted Saturday evening an offer by the county assessor and commissioners to assess merchandise inventories at 26 per cent, a reduction of about 9 per cent from the present rate.

Their motion also provided that an expert be hired to make a thorough study of county tax evaluations for evidence in any further adjustments in inventory assessments.

Arthur Bockwitz, chairman of a merchants' committee to study county taxation and fight for an inventory assessment reduction, reported the county offer was made on the basis of a schedule prepared by the assessor and commissioners in cooperation with his committee.

The tax schedule, considering all types of property in the county, showed the average assessment figure is 31.5 per cent.

The merchants maintain the schedule, although the best that could be prepared in such a short time, is not accurate and places the average too high. The 26 per cent figure was accepted as a temporary compromise.

Assessor Clifford Thompson and prosecuting Attorney Drayden Smith expressed the opinion that the state tax commission would raise the inventory assessment to 30 per cent when it meets in August.

They said the commission has legal power to raise any county tax assessment figure by 15 per cent—in this case 15 per cent of 26 per cent. Such an increase would make the assessment 30 per cent, or what the commissioners and assessor feel is equitable.

Bockwitz reported the opinion of the committee and its attorney, R. P. Parry, that the 26 per cent county assessment figure is the best that can be worked out before 1950 inventory assessments this month.

He said the attorney had advised the committee that unless more accurate tax information must be available to establish average assessments on all types of property in the county before any court action can be taken against county tax officials or the state tax commission.

The merchants, in their motion to make a study of assessments for such evidence, suggested that Claude Stewart, Boise, former Twin Falls county assessor, be hired.

"With such a study," Bockwitz said, "we shall have conclusive word on the tax assessment average in the county. If that average turns out to be lower than the assessment on inventories we shall have evidence that our taxes should be reduced. If the average shows up as at least 26 per cent we shall know we are being treated fairly."

O. N. Robins opined a study of the tax assessments showing the county average is less than 26 per cent would deter the state tax commission from adding the additional 15 per cent.

Registered Stock Net $7,250 at Clubs' Sale

JEROME, April 8—A total of $7,250 was paid this afternoon for 21 head of registered stock by teen-aged and younger Idaho and Oregon stockmen at the third annual 4-H and FFA registered Guernsey heifer sale.

A hushed tension prevailed in the sale ring and the auctioneer, Col. Earl O. Walters, Filer, frequently exhorted parents to let their juniors make their own decisions. Two heifers brought the top price of $525, which exceeded last year's by $25.

Prices averaged $359 today in comparison to last year's $292 and sales officials said the crowd was better and the animals consistently a little older and better than last year.

The top price of $525 was brought by Prestdale Monarch Buttercup, consigned by Charles J. Pritzl, New Plymouth, and sold to Holly L. Lincoln, 17-year-old Wilder FFA member, and by Rodenbaugh Platinum, consigned by W. W. Rodenbaugh, Caldwell, and bought by Lon Peterson, Buhl 4-H member.

Miss Peterson also paid the second highest price, $435, for Diversified Phil Velma, consigned by Walter Mathiesen, Filer.

Howard Pomeroy, Caldwell, president of the sponsoring organization, the Idaho Guernsey Breeders association, presented a plaque to the Jerome Chamber of Commerce for its cooperation. The gift was accepted by Tom Mahan, president.

Peanut also gave the Walter Kelly Thousand Springs, with an

No End Is Seen For Auto Strike

DETROIT, April 8 (AP)—There's no hope of peace in the Chrysler strike this Easter week-end.

Some observers, however, say settlement may come in mid-week. Others take a 10-day view.

One thing is certain, the CIO United Automobile Workers and Chrysler are closer to agreeing than at any time since the walkout Jan. 25 over a pension dispute. Both sides have made concessions.

The strike started 74 days ago and has idled 80,000 Chrysler workers and 60,000 employes of supplier plants.

Voters Begin To Take Sides For Elections

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Voters next week start choosing sides for the decisive congressional elections next fall. On the verdict hinges the fate of President Truman's "fair deal" program in the next two years.

The biennial primary season is here. Campaigns to date have been growing hotter with the weather. Trumanites seek to strengthen their majorities against the Republican-southern Democrat coalition. Republicans say further losses on their part will take the nation down the road to socialism.

Voting starts Tuesday in Illinois. Senator Scott W. Lucas, administration floor leader, has the Democratic senatorial nomination without challenge. Former Rep. Everett M. Dirksen is expected to win easily over two opponents in the Republican primary.

This will assure a hot race in November with the issues clear. Dirksen thinks further foreign aid spending is "pouring money down a rat hole." Lucas backs the Truman spending proposals, saying deep cuts would endanger national defense and growth of communism abroad.

The Illinois primaries are but a warm-up for the big doings in May. Candidates will be picked then for seven U. S. senate seats and there is at least one bang-up battle in each of six states, with contests in Alabama over state committee membership having an important bearing on 1952.

At stake are nominations for one senate seat each in Alabama, Florida, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Oregon, and two in North Carolina. There so-called "liberal" senate two Democratic and one Republican are being challenged, among others.

Youth Hurt Seriously in Auto Crash

One Twin Falls youth was injured seriously and three others were cut and bruised in a collision shortly after 11 p.m. Saturday at the intersection of Falls avenue and Washington street one mile northwest of Twin Falls.

Bud Detweiler, 17, was believed seriously injured at the Twin Falls county hospital where he was taken following the crash. Although the extent of his injuries had not been determined, it was believed by hospital attendants that he sustained a severe head injury and possibly a broken leg.

Taken to Hospital

The other three Twin Falls youths, all about 17 years old, are Jack Patrick, Kay Larsen and Melvin Jaynes. They were taken to the hospital by ambulance where they were treated for cuts and bruises.

State patrolmen and sheriff's deputies who investigated the accident said young Detweiler was driving a 1950 coupe west on Falls avenue. The second car, a 1949 sedan, driven by Melvin E. Jaynes, was headed north on Washington avenue. Patrick and Larsen were passengers in Jaynes' car.

Motor Knocked Out

The impact of the collision knocked the motor out of Detweiler's car throwing it about 50 feet from the center of the intersection and about 26 feet from where the car stopped. Both cars were upright when police arrived but front dents on the top it is believed both rolled over. The cars stopped in a yard on the north west corner of the intersection about 10 to 15 feet off the road.

One of the cars hit a power pole on the northwest corner of the intersection temporarily interrupting service to two customers, according to Idaho Power company crewmen.

Service Interrupted

A wire and cross-arm were broken but crewmen estimated it would take only an hour and one-half to make repairs. An automatic switch cut the power in the

Solon Averts Crime Probe Is 'Crippled'

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Senator McCarran said today the senate rules committee had "destroyed the effectiveness" of a proposed nationwide crime investigation by fixing a July 31 deadline for the inquiry.

The Nevada Democrat, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, urged that the senate approve a $50,000 inquiry into organized gambling and rackets without a time limit.

"It would be a waste of money," McCarran told a reporter, "to try to cover this vast field by July 31."

McCarran's committee voted for the investigation and asked $100,000 for expenses. But the rules committee cut the figure to $50,000 and added the July 31 deadline.

Senator Kefauver, D., Tenn., sponsor of the resolution, has appealed to the Democratic policy committee to give priority to the resolution and a decision is expected either Monday or Tuesday.

Some Democrats have expressed the view privately that Republicans would seek to use a crime investigation for partisan advantage in the coming congressional campaign.

Rep. Macy, R., N. Y., has accused Democrats of "smothering" a crime investigation measure he introduced in the house.

Walker Plans ...

...Governor Robins announced ...

For Governor

PAYETTE, April 8 (AP)—State Sen. Herman Welker, R., Payette, tonight said he planned to seek the Republican nomination for U. S. senate if Gov. C. A. Robins runs.

The governor said he had "no comment" when informed of Welker's statement.

May Announce

"If Governor Robins' announcement is forthcoming next week as reported, I will make my announcement the following week," Welker said. He told The Associated Press that is my intention."

Welker said he would seek the six-year term, the post now held by Sen. Glen H. Taylor, D., Ida.

Robins Silent

Political observers have predicted the governor soon will announce his candidacy for the six-year senate term, but the chief executive has not publicly stated he will be a candidate.

Welker said his statement was not intended as an announcement of candidacy "at this time."

Two Republicans already have announced their candidacy for the six-year senate nomination. They are Rep. John Sanborn, R., Ida., and Nathan Heston, retired Nampa farmer.

Sanborn is leaving for north Idaho the first of next week to begin his campaign.

Welker, assistant Payette attorney, is serving his first term in the state senate.

QUAKE HITS SICILY

CATANIA, Sicily, April 8 (AP)—A sharp, earth shock damaged many buildings in the Catania area today. But no person was reported injured, but at least 20 families were rendered homeless.

Solon Softens Spy Count in Latest Attack

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Senator McCarthy, in a new attack on the state department, today omitted his specific charges of spying and communism and the department asserted he was now "bleating like a lamb."

And Owen J. Lattimore declared that the Wisconsin Republican senator's speech amounted to a retraction of his accusation that Lattimore is the top Soviet secret agent in the state department.

In a public speech at Passaic, N. J., where he did not have the immunity from suits which surrounds his floor utterances, McCarthy noticably softened his charges against Lattimore and two state department employes.

For example, he said that Lattimore, Johns Hopkins university far eastern expert, is "selling out state department's program "identical to the planks in the platform of the Communist party."

Tonight John E. Peurifoy, the state department's security chief, issued a statement saying:

"Senator McCarthy roared like a lion when he wore the cloak of congressional immunity. Now he disregards his immunity, strikes a pose of a hero and bleats like a lamb.

"When he dropped his cloak of immunity, he also dropped the substance of his first charges."

Those accusations were made originally in two speeches on the senate floor, one last February and the other a little more than a week ago, and before a senate committee where he also had immunity.

Easter Bells Ringing Out Hope Message to World

By The Associated Press

Joyous Easter bells ring out a message of hope today to a world beset by anxiety and fear.

In formal worship and private devotions, Christian millions throughout the world commemorate the long-ago event that symbolizes the triumph of life over death—the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the tomb.

Holy year pilgrims to Jerusalem and Rome, sunrise worshippers on American hillsides, secret celebrants of solemn rites discouraged in some countries join in the commemoration.

In a different vein, Easter parades on New York's Fifth avenue and other great streets of the western world provide an after-church display of 1950's brightest spring fashions.

Snow Forecast

Cold and windy weather was forecast over the northern half of the country, with rain or snow in parts of the middle west, Florida and the Gulf area. Warm was to have fair and mild weather. A few scattered showers were indicated for the southern Rockies and most of the Pacific coast.

The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America declared in an Easter message that "our American faith in democracy has its historic roots in faith in God."

In Rome, an Easter throng of more than 500,000 was expected to fill the great basilica of St. Peter's and the square before it when Pope Pius XII celebrated pontifical mass (2 a.m., MST) and gave his blessing to the city and the world.

With thousands of holy year visitors thronging the city, bells of nearly 500 churches pealed at noon Saturday to mark the end of Lent.

Other great bells rang out their message of the Christ in the Arab-held old city of Jerusalem, where the colorful, annual holy fire ceremony was enacted on the traditional site of Jesus' tomb.

Hit-Run Auto Sought for 1 Of 5 Crashes

City police are searching for a hit-run car involved in one of five minor accidents Friday and Saturday. No injuries were reported.

Arthur Craft, 191 Lois street, told officers an unidentified car smashed into his auto while it was parked in front of his house at 12:40 a.m. Saturday. The bumper of the Craft auto was torn off and paint scraped from the left rear fender.

The right rear fenders on two cars were damaged at 8:25 p.m. Saturday. Police said a 1947 sedan driven by Robert R. Partney, Pocatello, backed from the parking lot alongside Albertson's food center and smashed into a car driven by Daniel W. Bagley, 1129 Sixth avenue east, which had stopped for a red light.

Autos driven by Virgil D. Dutt, 17, 535 Jefferson street, and Paul M. McClure, 638 Jefferson street, collided at the intersection of Filer avenue and Jefferson street at 2:39 p.m. Saturday.

Police said Dutt attempted to turn from Filer avenue onto Jefferson street when his car skidded, hit a ditch and then threw his car into the side of McClure's car.

A parking accident in the 200 block of Main avenue west was investigated by city police at 12:55 p.m. Saturday. Cars driven by Dene A. Webster, 16, Jerome, and Dolores Shu, 1624 Addison avenue west, and Sir car backed from a diagonal parking place, officers said.

The left rear door of a 1949 sedan driven by Wanda E. Alerman, 36, Kimberly, was damaged in an intersection collision at 2:37 p.m. Friday with a truck driven by Wayne D. Mowry, Twin Falls.

Morrow told police he was traveling slow at the intersection of Addison avenue and Elm street east, but did not stop for the stop sign.

Woes Pile up For Police in Slaying Probe

KANSAS CITY, April 8 (AP)—A brazen tavern burglary next door to the death scene added fresh woes to police seeking slayers of Politician Charles Binaggio and his henchman, Charles Gargotta.

With two policemen guarding the first district Democratic club where the two were executed gangland fashion early Thursday, thieves broke into an adjacent bar and stole $600, two wrist watches and some liquor last night.

The Kansas City Star said that in view of the wide publicity given the Binaggio slaying, thieves must have thought the Democratic headquarters club would be under guard. This, the paper said, "led to the conclusion that the burglary may have been a cover-up for some more devious purpose."

A safe and strong box were opened officially in the club today but investigators said these yielded no significant clues to the twin slayings that have had repercussions in the state and national capitals.

In St. Louis, the Star-Times reported Gargotta had acted as the political peace with President Truman in the last few weeks of his life. Three Kansas City men, who the paper said participated in the plan, stoutly denied any knowledge of the maneuver.

New Phase of Minidoka Tax Dispute Heard

sion was acting within the Idaho statutes.

In answer to the second amended complaint, which alleges the assessment now exceeds the full value of the land and the state failed to make an investigation of the valuation, Leggat replied the tax commission was required only to compare the valuation with other valuations in the county and with valuations of similar land in other counties. He said the commission uses abstracts from all the counties in the state to do this.

Only in Minidoka county were increased valuations necessary, Leggat said. He gave valuations per acre of dry farming land in other counties, as Blaine, $4.25, Cassia $7.53, Lincoln, $3, and Power, $8.36.

Lawrence Duffin, attorney for the plaintiffs, said dry farming land in Minidoka county could not be compared with that in Cassia county where dry farming is done in the hills which contain plenty of moisture. Dry farming is done here on the flats where there is little moisture, he added.

He repeated the allegation in the complaint that the assessed valuation now exceeds the cash value of the land.

Judge Lowe took the case under advisement and gave both parties 30 days in which to file briefs.

An order signed by Judge Lowe restraining the county treasurer from collecting taxes on dry farming land for 1948 based on the higher assessment is still in effect.

County Auditor Worth S. Elton said the increased assessed valuation amounts to $61,235, or about $4,500 in taxes.

Truman Spoiling For Fight After Florida Vacation

KEY WEST, Fla., April 8 (AP)—President Truman got ready today to close the books on five years in office, spoiling for a fight with Republicans at home and totalitarianism abroad.

The men around him disagreed whether he will seek another term in 1952 but conceded he has done nothing to shut off a "draft" by the Democratic party.

Tanned and relaxed by nearly a month's vacation in Florida sunshine, he returns to Washington Monday armed with ammunition for coast-to-coast stumping tours in the "give 'em hell" manner of his 1948 campaign.

But he was armed with an olive branch, too, for he is trying to revamp the bi-partisan foreign policy, and confine partisan domestic politics "to the water's edge" of this country.

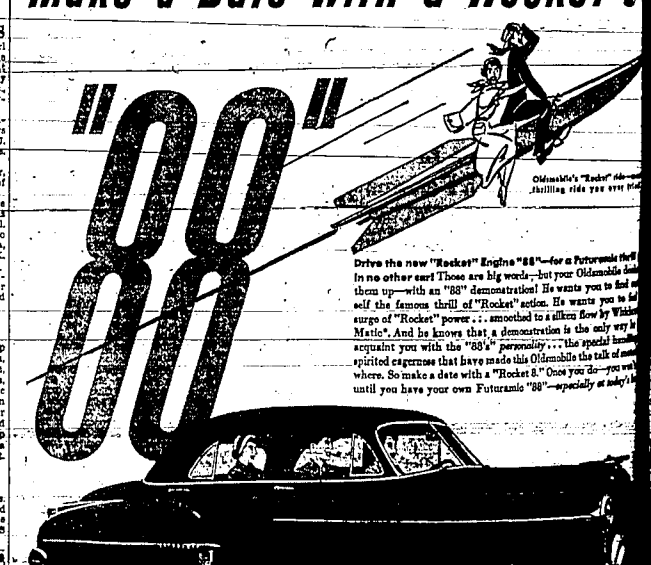

The President weighs several pounds more than he did when he was summoned to the White House the afternoon of April 12, 1945. Just five years ago next Wednesday, to learn of the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt and kiss the Bible in a solemn oath-taking.

Pair Has Vivid Memories of Oriental Life Following Two Years in Turkey

Leaving the sights of teeming bazaars, veiled peasant women and inexpensive servants behind them, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Hardwick have returned to Twin Falls from the Near East where Hardwick served on military mission for aid to Turkey.

However, they did not leave behind them the knowledge and memories of the oriental country that was home to them for two years. They had an experience which few Americans can share. Turkey being a hard nation for tourists to enter, Hardwick, a wartime lieutenant colonel in the field artillery, had returned to civilian life after the war and was working as a bureau of reclamation engineer on Hungry Horse dam, Mont. He received a call from his former commanding officer on Christmas eve of 1947 asking him to go to Turkey. The army needed civilian personnel qualified to instruct the young Turkish army in the use of American military equipment and want... of Hardwick as a member of the mission.

Within a month, Hardwick was at the Turkish field artillery school at Ankara. His wife and son, David, arrived four months later and the family settled down in a large apartment in the city.

They soon discovered there was no need to learn the Turkish language for many Turkish army men, especially European-educated technicians, had a good working knowledge of English. Turkish merchants, always after the American dollar, had learned quickly enough of the language to become rich.

Living conditions for the Hardwicks were about what they had known in this country. Their apartment cost them $100 a month but the government and private American businesses recognize the high rents and pay their employes adequate living allowances. The cost of food is about the same as in the United States and there is plenty of all kinds except pork. Because the Turks are Moslems, there is no pork grown, so what is consumed must come from Europe in scarce and expensive quantities.

Schools for American students below college level are non-existent in Turkey so David, a high school student, played hooky all the time he was in the country. After he had missed school an entire year his folks took him on the train to Lebanon and dispatched him for home on an American ship last June. At present he is going to school in Stillwater, Okla., and living with the Hardwick's older son, a student at Oklahoma A and M college.

Most Europeans had servants, Mrs. Hardwick says, but most of the domestic help is inefficient "by our standards." However, the Hardwicks were fortunate enough to have a houseboy who cooked, cleaned house and laundered and had sufficient education and background to do a good job. He claimed to be a Greek, although his name was Ahmet, and he charged the top salary for servants, $40 a month.

The Turks, although westernized, still think as orientals, Hardwick says. As a result the greatest problem facing American aid administrators is to get the people of the country to accept modern and efficient methods of farming and industry.

"I've watched farmers thresh by dragging a board drawn by horses over the cut grain," Mrs. Hardwick added. According to Mr. Hardwicks, the United States is sending modern agricultural machinery into Turkey so the nation can increase its yields with modern methods. But the task of getting the Turks to use the machinery remains.

Politics in the nation are somewhat similar to American politics.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Hardwick examine Turkish meerschaum pipes they brought home with them after spending two years in Turkey where Hardwick served on a military aid mission. (Staff photo-engraving)

The Turks have a two-party system with the Peoples' Republican party now in control of the government. However, the Democratic party represents a growing minority group with increasing power, Hardwick explains. The Turks will hold an election this year. The Communist party is outlawed by strong legislation.

All industry and communications are nationalized under government control.

Turkish customs, in some cases, were strange to the Hardwicks. Automobiles, traveling at night, must drive without headlights and with only the interior dome light turned on, they say. It is a law that cars must have horns and use them constantly. It was rumored that if a driver can prove he honked his horn three times before running down a pedestrian, he is not held responsible.

Feses and harems were outlawed when Turkey became a republic at the end of its revolution in 1923, but many Turks who had several wives before the law was passed were allowed to keep them. Among westernized Turkish women the veil has gone out of fashion, but peasant women on the streets still wear a loose veil which is pulled over the face whenever a man passes. Brightly colored pantaloons are still the ordinary dress of country women.

Turkish religion and history are old and colorful, with the result that about 30 days of each year are devoted to holidays with religious, famous battles and national heroes as the cause of celebration, the Hardwicks explain. Another group of 30 days is observed as a religious fast during which no food or liquids can be consumed during daylight hours. During this time camels are fitted to mark the hours in which food and drink may be taken. At the end of the fast each family sacrifices a lamb which has been carefully fattened and painted with bright colors, roasts the animal, and has a feast.

Another interesting ceremony the Turks hold is for the dedication of buildings. Hardwick tells of the dedication of a new building at the artillery school. A ram was sacrificed over the forms of the building and its blood allowed to run into the forms with the concrete being poured. All the notables at the ceremony signed an inscribed dedication, placed it in a vial, and buried it in the concrete with the ram's blood. Then the ram was roasted for the dedication feast.

Mrs. Hardwick says she was interested in the Istanbul bazaar, a large series of vaulted concrete and stone buildings with 40 separate entrances built in the days of the Byzantine empire. "Anything could be purchased there from antiques to any type of modern merchandise," she explains.

Hardwick completed his military mission work in June of last year and went to work for the J. G. White Engineering corporation, New York, on the company's project of helping Turkey with its program of airport expansion.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardwick sailed from Ankara for the United States on Jan. 26, 1950, had a leisurely Mediterranean cruise with stops in Greece, Italy and southern France, and arrived at New York Feb. 22.

Last week they finally found themselves back in Twin Falls after an automobile trip across the nation with stops at Stillwater to see their sons at Ft. Sill, Okla., to look over Hardwick's old army post.

In Twin Falls, the Hardwicks are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jenkins. He hopes they will stay in the western states for a few years and plans to go back into engineering somewhere in the region.

124 BRICK UNITS—FOR WHAT?

We never presume to know where army air fields, supply depots, ammunition dumps, atomic reactor plants and the like should be located.

In fact we have little patience with those individuals who pretend to know more about such things than the nation's military authorities themselves.

So we're not inclined to get excited over the news that there is no immediate possibility of reactivating the Mountain Home air base.

But we were interested in a statement which Senator Dworshak gave the Associated Press at Washington in this connection.

After a conference with air force operating and maintenance officials, Dworshak had several rather significant things to report.

Current planning, it seems, provides for concentration of bomber units in areas where a maximum of personnel can be utilized. This can be accomplished to better advantage by expanding facilities at other northwest air fields, instead of reactivating the Mountain Home air base.

It's not for us to argue with the air force's reasoning up to that point because we assume that it knows full well what it's doing.

But Senator Dworshak's statement brings out a few other details. For instance:

When flying units were moved from the Mountain Home base last year the army had just completed 124 units of permanent brick quarters for officers, at a cost of more than $1,000,000!

The officers, it developed, complained that "isolation" of the base made it difficult to keep enlisted personnel. They pointed out that "recreational facilities and contiguous large cities are essential in planning for the morale of the officers and enlisted men."

All of which takes us back to a partial defense at least of Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson who is being criticised for trying to reduce expenses in the nation's military setup. He is being criticized chiefly by those who contend that our present military defenses are inadequate.

Johnson may be too presumptuous in his repeated assurances that our national defenses are in good shape, but we'll go along with him in his contention that our military branches are extravagant and wasteful at times, almost to the point of ridiculousness.

Here at Mountain Home is a good example: 124 units of permanent brick quarters for officers, just completed last year at a cost of $1,000,000, to serve no practical purpose, partly because the officers found it too "isolated" for the outfit to keep up its "morale."

Maybe we do need more money for our national defense, but there is abundant evidence that much of this money could be saved through greater efficiency within the military departments themselves. It's easier of course for these departments to hang the entire cost on the taxpayers.

PLANNED ECONOMY!

About 4,000,000 bushels of surplus potatoes have been dumped to rot so far under the government's program to support prices of the 1949 crop, agriculture officials in Washington have admitted.

And they predict there will be more dumpings before last year's crop is finally cleared up.

Let's see. If they have already dumped 4,000,000 bushels of surplus potatoes, that means more than 6,500 carloads—or approximately two-thirds of the total potato crop produced in Magic Valley in a normal year!

Over the country generally, figured on a conservative basis, these 4,000,000 bushels could easily represent all the potatoes produced on 20,000 acres of land.

And that does not take into consideration all the labor that went into irrigation, cultivation, picking, sorting, sacking and transportation. From one way of looking at it, all of this effort was wasted.

PLANNED ECONOMY . . . that's what they call it!

Or a new version of the law of supply and demand as we recently heard someone describe it: the government DEMANDS a $5,000,000,000 deficit to finance a phoney economy and the taxpayers now and later will be forced to SUPPLY the money.

PRINCETON LOOKS AHEAD

Princeton university has announced it will publish the papers of Thomas Jefferson. It calls them the "richest treasure house of historical information ever left by a single man," and adds that the project is thought to be the largest book publishing job ever undertaken.

The whole thing will take about 20 years and will cost about $1,000,000. There'll be 52 volumes of some 750 pages each. The project will start out at reduced draft, with just two volumes scheduled for 1950. After that the aim will be four a year.

What we liked most about this announcement was a little touch that showed the university's far-sightedness. Recognizing that a man might grow old and die before he finished collecting these ambitious works, it tried to meet that eventuality. "Subscriptions may be canceled by the subscriber OR HIS HEIRS."

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Every Sunday this veteran Washington correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international politics and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker by MOR Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—What do you think of Senator McCarthy's charges of communist influence and infiltration of the state department and other federal agencies?" inquires S. F., Chicago. "Is he a screwball, or has he got something?"

Ray Tucker

Answer: Unlike so many fellow-columnists and high officials from President Truman and Attorney General McGrath down, I am not reaching judgment on the McCarthy-Acheson affair until all the evidence has been heard. I must take a cautious and reserved attitude because of my experience with so many other investigations on capitol hill.

Every single inquiry affecting the security of departments and bureaus those which turned up crooks and revealed the need for corrective legislation, was assailed by the party in power in the same way that the present leadership of the Truman administration has been scoffed at by the political defendants.

• • •

BREAK—The famous Teapot dome investigation began in the same way. Democratic officials reported there first that there had been fraud and corruption in the navy's grant of oil concessions to Fall and Doheny. But we could not prove it, and did not dare to make a public charge against Fall.

For two years Sens. Tom Walsh and "Old Bob" La Follette tried to uncover the truth after the senate passed a resolution of inquiry. They were ignored by the GOP party press and by Republican politicians" engaged in destroying the reputation of a dead President, Warren G. Harding. But finally, almost by accident, the break came, and the unsavory story was spread across the pages of history.

• • •

CORRUPTIONISTS—There was the same reaction when Sen. Burton K. Wheeler tried to expose former GOP Attorney General Daugherty's record as the nation's chief law officer. The GOP spokesmen and press made sport of his charges, and a Republican senator from Ohio described Daugherty as "clean as a hound's tooth."

But when the details of the sale of justice by a gang of corruptionists holed up in the D of J came out, Calvin Coolidge was forced to get rid of the cabinet members.

In the mid-20ties the Caraway committee took a look at lobbying around Washington. Again, these "nosey" Democrats were assailed by Coolidge and his partisans, as the Republicans are now. But it was this investigation which exposed Bishop Cannon, the great prohibitionist leader and religious dictator, serving jail sentences for his cause by indulge in bucketshop gambling in New York. It helped to kill Volstead.ism.

• • •

HISS—Mr. Truman castigated more recent investigations of the Roosevelt-Truman susceptibility to communist influence as a "red herring." But it was this inquiry which led to the conviction of Alger Hiss, and the revelation that many high officials, if not communists themselves, fellow-traveled and followed the Moscow "party line" at all times.

The point I make in this brief review of congressional investigations is that, like a baseball game, you can never tell the final score until the last man is out.

• • •

ERRATIC—It is unfortunate that Senator McCarthy happened to be the man who is handling the anti-communist case on capitol hill. He seems to think in terms of headlines rather than accomplishments. He is given to the use of language so extravagant that it weakens his presentation. He is erratic. He is not a smart cross-examiner.

For instance, it was silly of him to characterize Owen Lattimore as "the top Communist spy." The basis of his accusation against Professor Lattimore is that, regardless of the latter's motives, his advice in state department and United Nations circles contributed directly to the failure of our Chinese policy, and to the communists' conquest of that country.

McCarthy also erred in charging that Lattimore is now or ever has been a regular employee of state. That gave Secretary Acheson a chance to issue a denial that is only technically correct.

Acheson cannot deny that Lattimore was a frequent and respected consultant on our far eastern program, and that his views formed the basis and background of our earlier sympathy toward the Mao Tse-tung faction and of our desertion of Chiang Kai-shek.

• • •

VIEWS—As an adviser to Chiang by appointment of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1941, as Henry Wallace's sole expert on the latter's China mission in 1944, as deputy director of OWI, and as a United Nations adviser, Lattimore has depicted the Chinese communists as mere "agrarian reformers," and he urged both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations to support and build up the reds.

Had it not been for bipartisan opposition to this policy on capitol hill, Lattimore's advice might have prevailed to a greater extent that it has.

In his latest book, The Situation in Asia, published in 1949, Lattimore says that Asiatic peoples are shifting to Moscow because of their "awe and wonder" toward communist progress. They are turning against us, he infers, because they do not want to be used as "cannon fodder" by western imperialists.

Had Senator McCarthy made a serious study of Lattimore's views and their effect on our far eastern policy, the examining from Wisconsin would have realised that Stalin does not need a "master spy" at Washington.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

THE MONOPOLIES OF LABOR UNIONS

It grows increasingly clear that unions must be placed under the Sherman antitrust act, which outlaws monopolies working against the public interest.

The case of John L. Lewis is the most important to have come before the bar of opinion since the passage of the Sherman act, or the Wagner act or the Taft-Hartley act.

John L. Lewis's miners receive the highest wages paid any group as a group. His soft coal miners receive $1.98 an hour; his anthracite miners receive $1.93.

The pension granted him by the government when is was operating the mines costs the average American family $15 a year.

No other group in America has such a neat racket, tied up and delivered, and paid for by all Americans. For every American who purchases anything made of steel or in the manufacture of which steel is used, pays his share of this cost; for steel is the greatest user of coal. Find a man who has never seen a piece of coal and you find at the same time a man who pays the miners' pensions.

Lewis' isn't the only labor monopoly. Steel is another, and the CIO, and the maritime unions, and the telephone and railway and every other union which has the power to tie up an entire industry and completely or partially paralyze this country is a monopoly.

The Sherman antitrust law must be made applicable to all monopolies. There cannot, in their republic, be a favored group, a favored class, under the laws.

There are two ways to smash this tremendous power of the unions. One is by compulsory arbitration. That is the wrong way, for it is the way to complete domination of both labor and industry by government. Give the government the right to bring both parties to a dispute to heel and the rights of both will suffer.

The other way is to outlaw industry-wide bargaining. When unjustified demands are made upon management by union leaders and because the economy of the nation will suffer if a strike goes on, the bill in the last analysis is paid by the public.

If all the steel company officials were to sit down and agree that the prices of steel would be hiked by 25 per cent, how long do you think it would take Attorney General McGrath to cry "Monopoly!" and haul them all to court because it is a plot to plunder the public?

But under the law, labor leaders have a perfect right to sit down and demand of all steel companies a 25 per cent wage hike, a $100 a month pension, for all steel workers and then if their demands aren't met to strike the nation's jugular.

There's only one answer, as we see it: Outlaw industrywide bargaining to end labor monopolies.—New Orleans States.

POT SHOTS

SORTA MAD

Dear Pot Shots:

We are farmers, my hubby and I, and have all our lives. Don't know any better, I guess, but what some city slicker who calls himself "Mr. Insured" at Burley said sorta makes me mad.

The government has asked us not to raise certain crops to an excess. Those crops are our money crops. We work hard and raise food for the world. We don't like all the "don'ts" put to us farmers but what's wrong with having a fair price for what we raise? We aren't asking for something and giving nothing.

Our expenses run a season ahead of our income. And I can remember raising spuds at a market price of 35 cents per 100 pounds when our harvest expenses were 40 cents in cash outlay, not including the expense and work they were to us from planting time to harvest.

USE SOAPSUDS

A Jerome reader, who fails to identify himself, takes exception with Arnold Davis who proposed the gardening series being printed in the T-N. The chief point in question is this matter of protecting plants with cardboard.

"I have used soapsuds for 20 years and it has never failed," the Jerome reader declares.

The best part of that soapsuds kills bugs, thus protecting plants. Not only that, but it keeps the plants, roots and bulbs good and clean, the reader adds.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

PEGLER'S ANGLE

There never was a time since the cave man etched his literature on the walls of his adobe when writers made as much money as the current crop of hacks in a period that might fairly be labelled by critics in the future, the golden age of garbage.

Although Hollywood has collapsed, perhaps for the time being, under the new heights of absurdity, the racket is still vigorous and the book trade, once a conscientious means of fostering art and broadening knowledge, has been a crass, unmanning commerce no more esthetic or honorable than radio.

Westbrook Pegler

I have recently received an invitation which is indicative. I am invited to compose a selection to be printed in a house organ of the "21" restaurant known as "21," an expensive tavern noted as well for the spurious art of its literati as for its toothsome excellence of its provisions.

• • •

During prohibition, "21" was a speakeasy chiefly remembered as the place which therefore attracted the novelists and pretty thinkaters of the hour who, being sorry on inside, wished to feature a joint which put up the bars against the commonality.

This gave them to feel that they were carriage trade as, financially, they were, for the golden ide was making and columnists were getting $25,000 a year under the low Republican income tax.

It is now an honor to be roped to do a piece for "21" and I am inflated but sorry, nevertheless, that most of the authors in the clientele are but reporters relieved of responsibility for their situations and statements.

This, I may say, goes for the pundits who harrangue us in books on the nazis, the Japs and Roosevelt as well as for the fictioneers.

• • •

The book trade, at my last inquiry some five or six years ago, was turning our 10,000 titles a year. The best sellers among them included the fantastic rubbish entitled Undercover, done by a trembling snoop calling himself John Roy Carlson, who died a thousand deaths while he waited to interview Sen. Bob Reynolds of North Carolina, an amazing windbag who couldn't split a lip with an axe; dozens of volumes of cheap feature stories put forth as living human documents of the war, and any number of pro-communist and/or pro-Roosevelt works in which the truth was always subordinated to propaganda or ignored altogether.

The book trade, during this time, went over almost entirely to the politicos. Nearly all of the exceptions being Scribners, under the late Maxwell Perkins, the last of the real book editors, and the house of Devin Adair which, alone, had the integrity and courage to publish John Flynn's "Roosevelt Myth."

• • •

The current crop of memoirs is equally tawdry and self-serving and, for this condition, the book reviewing departments and sections of the New York Herald-Tribune and the New York Times were responsible to a serious degree.

The reviews of Eleanor Roosevelt's memoirs are a disgrace to the free press. The presiding genius at the Herald-Tribune had the nerve to write that the paper had "cleared" Carlson through the FBI.

This was false, because the FBI does not give character references except for its own employes and any American journalist who had evidence that it was engaged in such business would have a news story of great importance.

The custom of the press in "reviewing" and promoting the books of favored pot-boilers is to plug the opuses of red, reddish and pink writers and either ignore or knock the books of those who are aggressively pro-American and candidly abhor the Roosevelt reign, including the ghastly guilt of Pearl Harbor and Yalta.

• • •

There is a wide conspiracy against Flynn and the truth about Pearl Harbor as told by George Morgenstern and the late Charles A. Beard. But the damage to these and other authors of similar integrity is petty compared to the great wrong thus inflicted on a public which expects honest treatment of current books and is tricked into buying propaganda and ignoring the refutations.

It is regular practice to give a pro-Roosevelt or pro-red book to friends of the author for review and either ignore the others or turn them over to personal and political enemies.

This is to say nothing more about the dishonesty than the observation that the more pestiferous and nasty the view of the society the more enthusiastic the reviews will be.

• • •

Writers, with few exceptions, are ridiculously self-important and may be seen in "21" and other luxurious resorts posturing and courting attention like prize fighters and Hollywood hams.

Yet, as Father James Gillis wrote recently in the Brooklyn Tablet, "after all, a novelist or a journalist might not be expected to possess a particularly keen intelligence.

"Recall, in this connection, the kind of knack a trick—a superficial talent. Besides, the novelist lives in a world of unreality. His element is fanciful fiction. He is content to accept as if he believe off the unreal as real with readers who want to be pleasantly deceived."

• • •

This is an accurate appraisal of the brain of the overwhelming majority of the writers whose books have been "successful" during the current boom, but it doesn't get to the fact that the books, themselves, are flashy spheneers without stamina, grace or taste. The wliest get the best reviews and sell best.

Nor does Father Gillis address the fact that most of the authors were men and women of vulgar minds greedily selling out the best that is in society of the United States, making a pretense of "liberalism" and courageous truth-telling, when money is all that interests them.

Fiction is a rewarding medium. The fictioneer needn't defend his position or accept any responsibility for the harm he does, and a drunk on the street, using the common language of today's fiction, would get six months in jail.

Man Is Fined $50 for Thefts Of Meat Here

Cliff Wiseman, 40, 551 Third avenue east, paid a fine of $50 and $3 costs in justice court Saturday after he pleaded guilty to petit larceny.

Wiseman was charged with taking $12 worth of meat from Scott's Frozen Food lockers, 214 Blue Lakes boulevard, March 20. He was represented by Guy L. Kinney.

Judgment Deferred

He was sentenced to 60 days in the city jail but judgment was deferred for six months providing Wiseman leaves the state to take medical treatment for alcoholism.

He was remanded to the custody of his parents who are to take him to Nebraska for treatment. The judgment stipulates he is not to return to Idaho until he can prove he has gainful employment.

Original Plea Changed

Wiseman pleaded not guilty when arraigned March 20 and was released on $100 bond. A trial scheduled for March 30 was postponed. George P. Scott signed the complaint against Wiseman.

He was accused of stealing ground beef, shoulder roasts and steak from a locker rented by A. W. Tatlock.

Filer Instructor To Go to Mexico

FILER, April 8—Mrs. R. L. Williamson, Filer high school instructor, has accepted a position to teach beginning Spanish at the Taxco summer school at Taxco, Mexico, from July 27 to Aug. 22.

This is a private school, with enrollment limited to 40, sponsored by J. E. Angulo who teaches Spanish at the University of Wichita, Wichita, Kans. Heretofore he has chosen his personnel of nine teachers from his own university.

Mrs. Williamson attended the Taxco school last summer and says she feels it is a rare privilege to be on the staff. Taxco is a city of 30,000 population, 103 miles south of Mexico City.

Play Presented

RICHFIELD, April 8—A clever play, "Wild Hobby Horses," was presented at the MIA meeting this week at the LDS church, under direction of Mrs. J. M. Hawson of the drama department.

In the cast were Mrs. Leon Giles, Darlene Swinyard, Mrs. Grant Flavel, Paul Ristrup, Bruce Sorensen, Alan Johnson and Ila Manwill. The prompter was Janice Johnson.

Road Open, But Trip to Stanley Is No Pleasure

SHOSHONE, April 8—A pleasure trip to Stanley via Galena pass would be no pleasure. That was the comment made Saturday afternoon by H. E. Sternberg, district engineer for the state highway department.

Sternberg had been listening to a report from R. A. Schuppenies, his maintenance engineer, who came from Stanley yesterday and had to use chains to get through a 15 to 20-mile stretch of oozy mud directly south of Stanley.

The road to Stanley was opened earlier this week by state highway crews in their annual battle of several week's duration. Sternberg also reported the south side of the pass is muddy.

Meanwhile from Galena came a report of six inches of new snow during the night, which combined with a 32-degree temperature Saturday afternoon to make driving unpleasant. Nevertheless three cars had gone over the pass by Saturday afternoon.

Sternberg advised against travel but was optimistic that three or four days of sunshine and wind in the Stanley basin could dry the road out. Chains are necessary now, he warned.

King Hill Church Egg Hunt Staged

2,000 Appear for Jerome Egg Hunt In Spite of Wind

JEROME, April 8—An estimated 2,000 children participated in the annual Easter egg hunt here today. The event was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce merchants committee.

The large turnout was in spite of cold, windy weather. Children gathered at a business district corner and were led to the hunting fields by the high school band, directed by W. S. Mircher.

They marched to the city park where children 8 years of age and over hunted eggs in the north section. Tots under 8 searched the swimming pool area. Hidden and located were 75 dozen eggs and 60 pounds of colored candy eggs. The eggs were colored by the high school freshmen home economics students directed by Mrs. Ralph Dunn.

John Stelle, jr., was in charge of arrangements, assisted by Charles L'Hartsaon, Max Fuller and Henry Pharis.

Egg Hunt Held

KING HILL, April 8—Lila Charlton held an Easter egg hunt and party for her first grade pupils Thursday afternoon on the school lawn. Mothers of the pupils were guests, helped furnish the refreshments for the party and assisted Miss Charlton in serving them.

VFW Date Scheduled

KETCHUM, April 8—Local members are making an attempt to revive the Blaine chapter of the VFW but too small an attendance turned out for a planned second meeting this week that it was not possible to elect officers. The reinstatement charter was applied for, and April 19 set for a meeting at Rio club here.

New Manager

JEROME, April 8—Everett Mietsner has been named new manager of the Simplot company office here. He succeeds Oliver Lovins, who resigned and has moved to Grandview, Wash.

The new manager is a native of Jerome and has operated a farm southwest of here with his father, Gus Mietsner.

Jaycee Raps "Indifference" of People to Government Reform

Editor, Times-News:

Some people honestly believe we are writing and talking too much on what the Hoover commission found and recommended for our government. They would have us believe there are those who do not like to read the truth. We have found that there are those who pass over articles in papers and magazines or pass up meetings and turn off the radio because there is politics involved.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has been trying to arouse the public to take an active interest in the government of the United States. We all want the freedoms our constitution provides, but how many are willing to do something to see that we continue to receive those rights? It seems in time of HOT war and nothing less to get the people united.

What those people do not realize and the reason we are writing so much are the plain facts the Hoover commission has brought out into the light. People do not realize that these facts spell total destruction to our country as we have known it for decades.

If our congress enacts only 15 of the proposals which President Truman made in his annual report on the national budget it will add $25,000,000,000 to the $40,000,000,000 it costs now to run the federal government. This means an annual increased tax burden of $166 for every one of the 150,000,000 American people. Under these proposals, if enacted, they will keep adding and adding to our tax burden. In order to support these programs, once they are in operation, it will increase the individual tax burden $433 annually.

This is to be in the face of the national debt in which each man, woman and child in America is mortgaged to the tune of over $1,500. Take the national health insurance program. The initial cost will be only $15,000,000. However the cost of the program when in full operation will be $7,000,000,000 annually. Another such program is expansion of social security with an initial cost of $250,000,000 that will eventually cost $6,000,000,000 each year. Farm parity program is destined to cost between $5,000,000,000 and as high as $10,000,000,000 a year.

The Hoover commission reports, if enacted in their entirety, would and could save only $3,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 to start with. However where the commissions' proposals really go to work for your pocket, is on performance budgeting. The budget now is based on estimates by each department and there is not one department that is able to tell anyone how much it actually costs the taxpayer to run that department. The commission recommended a performance budget system. There would not be a chance for any department to request appropriations for more than it actually cost to run that department.

What the Junior Chamber of Commerce wishes to know is: How great must the disaster become before the people wake up, open their eyes and ears and see just where the United States of America is headed?

As our present fate, if we continue to be deadbeats, we will be asking or forcing our children and their children to pay at least 40 per cent of our earnings for the operation of our federal government only and the programs this generation is letting congress enact while we read the funny papers.

LENOY O. KIENZLE
(Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce)

"Flying Saucers" Are Only Lights, This Man Opines

Editor, Times-News:

Much has been said and written about those so-called flying discs and saucers that so many people have seen. But to my observation they are nothing more than strong, focused lights coming from some electrical moving instrument on the earth.

Shining on some white, low, moving clouds at night, these strong lights could come from beacons guiding night-flying airplanes, or spotlights from automobiles going up a winding mountain road or even an auto going up and over a hill.

As to some color, that also is possible. There could be some orange or pink on the focus lens or even from the sun, should it not be too far below the horizon, still casting some reflection just right on certain clouds.

As to meeting those fantastic speed discs and a pilot in a southwestern state chasing one for 30 minutes. Well, he could have been going the same direction it was and perhaps followed it for 10 seconds until it passed into oblivion, or crashed into a mountainside as someone had mentioned. The pilot of press could have added 19 minutes and 50 seconds to add excitement to the situation.

The next time a pilot up in the sky sees some of those imaginary discs, let him look down and back to see where that strong focused light is coming from. And should others see them, let them figure it out for themselves. I have seen them and thought nothing of it as I had observed their source in the beginning.

State Solon Stands With His Figures on Education's Cost

Editor, Times-News:

I wish to reply to a letter written by Mahlin S. Hansen and published in the Public Forum, April 2.

Mr. Hansen disagreed with a statement made by me that it takes 46 per cent of the state budget to provide funds for the educational program.

Mr. Hansen then inferentially assumes the responsibility for providing the correct figures. His percentages vary from 39.6 per cent, 39.8 per cent to 21.3 per cent.

I will stand on my original figures. To be exact, I will have to raise them slightly.

In my talk before the Rotary club March 21, I presented some facts that are not generally known, but which, in my estimation are pertinent, significant and influential in consideration of legislation.

One of these facts was my statement that about 46 per cent of total appropriations went to the educational program.

As a basis for that statement, I submit the following figures taken from the report of the bureau of budget of the state of Idaho for the 30th and extraordinary session.

Total appropriations and building fund transfer	$46,309,023.72
(The building fund appropriation is a transfer from a reserve fund to an active fund and actually is not a new appropriation.)
Building fund transfer (deduct)	$ 7,606,000.00
Leaving total appropriation for biennium	$38,703,023.72
Total appropriation for education	$18,323,686.00
$18,323,686.00 is actually 47.4 per cent of $38,703,023.72.

There is but one budget and that is the one I have used as the source of my information.

In support of my statement before the Rotary club that "the school reorganization program was costing more than was expected," I stressed the transportation problems and mentioned the request of the Idaho's Trustee association for an emergency appropriation of $172,000 to aid in financing the remainder of the year's transportation costs.

I call your attention to the fact that appropriations for education has increased 300 per cent since 1935-36.

It would be appropriate that a study be made to determine how much of that increase reaches the pupil.

Richfield Service Held for Shirley Pate, R. D. Peak

RICHFIELD, April 8—A church wedding united in marriage Shirley Jean Pate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Pate, Richfield, and Ronnie Dean Peak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peak, Shoshone.

The double ring ceremony was performed last Sunday afternoon in the Richfield Methodist church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose an afternoon gown in aqua color, made with a back peplum and bodice of brocaded lace in matching color. Her white toque was adorned with black lace-trimmed veiling. For accessories, she wore a pearl necklace, heart-shaped pearl earrings, and carried a white Bible borrowed from Audrey Monroe. Her flowers, red roses and gardenias, were carried with the Bible and a tiny blue kerchief.

The bride's attendant, Mrs. Clancy Hollibaugh, sister of the bridegroom, wore a print afternoon gown and carried red roses.

Russell Pate, brother of the bride, was best man.

Preceding the ceremony Marilyn Moates and Gladys Flavel sang "Always" and "Because." Miss Flavel was piano accompanist and played the wedding marches.

Ushers were Florine Pate and Larry Peak. Miss Monroe presided over the guest book in the church. Her rust-colored suit was complemented with a corsage of sweet-peas.

Out-of-town relatives and friends at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peak, Henry O. Peak, Larry and Danny Peak, Mrs. Roy Peak, Mrs. Vernon Sorensen, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Alexander, R. A. Ballot procedure was exemplified and a routine opening service was conducted by Alta Rebekah members for state officers.

Mrs. Watts suggested improvements in lodge work, told her motto, and asked observation of membership on Mable Garland day, May 2, and memorial or "king deed day" on May 2.

Past Styles Are Shown At Woman's Club Meet

RUPERT, April 8—Like photographs in an old family album coming to life, members of the Woman's club and others modeled authentic costumes of various periods for the past 100 years at the regular meeting of the Woman's club Thursday afternoon.

Setting for the Easter "Style Parade" presented by the program committee, Mrs. Peter Boyd and Mrs. Vern Murray, was white curtains decorated with paper roses, and centered with a door, simulating the cover of the album.

On display was a collection of miniature pictures of styles from the days of the cave girl until the present time. These water color models were made by Mrs. Boyd's niece, Rose Marie Brunney, Boise. As each model emerged through the album cover, Mrs. George Hawk played appropriate music for the period.

Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Murray greeted members and guests at the door and presented each a clever "buttons and bows" corsage. Mrs. Boyd was attired in her 1912 pink and white graduation dress, fashioned with a square lace yoke and trimmed with wide silk lace ruffles, with the embroidery ruffles of her petticoat "daringly" displayed. With this she wore a pink sash, and her 1921 wedding shoes with French heels and pointed toes.

Mrs. Murray wore an 1850 pioneer dress belonging to Mrs. I. J. Clark, Burley. The orange-figured sateen dress was fashioned with a tight basque and long gathered skirt. Her hat of pink feathers was tied under her chin with black velvet ribbons.

Models featuring the 1950 styles included LaRay Whiting in a spring ensemble of blue print dress, short coat, hat, and white accessories. Gwen Rytting wore a light blue cotton dress with white accessories, and Vernice Whittaker modeled a black formal.

Modeling the clothes of yesteryear were Mrs. John Remsberg, Mrs. R. L. Culley, Mrs. Ted Hayward, Mrs. Andy McRoberts, Margaret and Jane Remsberg.

Mrs. Boyd, as master of ceremonies, introduced Mickie Mae Moller, dressed in her mother's clothes as the first number on the unique program.

Striking as an old painting was Mrs. Remsberg as she stepped through the album cover in an 1830 wedding dress worn by the grandmother of Mrs. Boyd. The changeable taffeta dress was fashioned with a tight bodice, and sweeping gathered skirt with pronounced bustle effect. A Paisley shawl from India, gift of the bridegroom, and a small black bonnet completed the costume. Mrs. Remsberg also modeled an 1890 black dress with leg-o-mutton sleeves, worn by Mrs. Boyd's mother, and a large gold watch attached to a chatelaine at the waist band.

Mrs. Culley, "Mrs. 1849," featured a black satin coat, with a detachable collar cape. The cape was worn for warmth in houses that lacked heating facilities of the present day. The coat, brought from Germany in 1849, belonged to the grandmother of Mrs. D. D. Wilkinson.

Mrs. Culley also wore an 1695 black beaded dress owned by Mrs. R. P. Hyde. At the high collar of the bodice was an 1868 brooch. Another ensemble worn by Mrs. Culley was an ecru lace blouse and black skirt worn by Mrs. Eva Jones in 1915. With this she wore a blue taffeta cape edged with fringe, worn by Mrs. L. E. MacArthur's grandmother 125 years ago.

A fourth dress modeled by Mrs. Culley was a 1921 blue taffeta made ankle-length. Mrs. McRoberts modeled two ensembles, a black two-piece dress with red yoke and cape worn by Mrs. Ann Dutson's mother in the 1890's, and a 1912 shoulder-width black hat, trimmed with two large tan plumes, and held securely in place by a huge hat pin. With the hat she wore Mrs. Jones' lace blouse and black suit of that period.

Mrs. Hayward wore a gray silk serge wedding dress worn by Mrs. John Hirning's mother at her wedding in 1899. In an 1898 white net trimmed with lace insertion, she also featured a shoulder cape of rare beauty made of corded silk. The cape, owned by Mrs. McArthur, was beaded by hand and edged with wide fringe.

In a knee-length dress made with long waist, Mrs. Hayward became the "flapper" of 1926.

Jane Remsberg wore a 1907 white lace inserted dress and blue sash belonging to Mrs. L. L. Culbertson's mother, the late Mrs. J. B. Kenagy. Margaret Remsberg, attired in a cream silk wedding dress worn by Martha Allen's mother, sang "My Sweetheart's the Man in the Moon."

Mrs. Howard Rundisill sang an Italian solo, "One Fine Day," from Madame Butterfly. She was accompanied by Mrs. Hawk.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. Remsberg, president, the call to the state convention at Weiser in May, was read. Six delegates elected to the convention are Mrs. D. D. Wilkinson, Mrs. Ted Hayward, Mrs. Peter Boyd, Mrs. Edwin Miller, Mrs. H. P. Lewis, and Mrs. H. V. Oreason. Alternates are Mrs. Carroll Elmore, Mrs. A. F. Beymer, Mrs. Dan Slavin, Mrs. Paul Bateman, Mrs. Clair Brassfield, and Mrs. Emery Carson.

Mrs. Beymer announced the next meeting will be held April 20 with the Four Leaf Clover club members of Albion as guests. Mrs. Fredrick Andreas, concert violinist, will be featured.

Guests were Mrs. Sherman Bellwood, Mrs. Frank Jones, Mrs. Preston O'Neil, Mrs. Otto Adamson, Mrs. Fred Fricke, Mrs. Thayre Stevenson, Mrs. Bob Whiting, Mrs. O. A. Moellmer, Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. John West, Mrs. Mike Weekes and Mrs. Thornton, Coeur d'Alene, mother of Mrs. Remsberg.

The tea tables, with lace cover over yellow, was centered with a cineraria plant and daffodils and a basket of Easter eggs. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Paul Bateman, Mrs. Vaughn Bair, Mrs. D. P. Dincoe, Mrs. Lawrence Duffin, Mrs. G. A. Scholer and Mrs. Richard O'Neil.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Daughters have a way of growing up and away from their mothers' dream of them. Some go right along with their mothers' ideal, cooperating pefectly, enjoying what they have and looking forward to the career laid ready for them. But some do not.

There is Adele. Up to her last year in high school, Adele was an obedient, yielding girl who thought mother all-wise, an ever-present help in time of trouble, a guide in times of difficulty. Now that is all changed. Mother wants Adele to get to bed at 10 o'clock on school nights and save all the dates for the week ends. Adele thinks otherwise, and argues and stamps her feet and cries when her mother insists that she stay home and prepare her work for school next day instead of going out with a boy.

"I'm the only girl in school who is treated like a baby," she says, and her distressed mother and angered father are about ready to give up. Let's look again at Adele.

She is as big as she will ever be, tall, matured in body, fit and able in every way. She is plainly not interested in higher education. She is interested in the boys. Nature is calling to her to get ready for wifehood and motherhood and her father and mother are battling against Nature, the most powerful force in life. They have not accepted this young woman who has appeared in their household but have insisted upon treating her as the child she used to be. They are facing one of the most difficult phases of parenthood, the time when their child is see-sawing between childhood and womanhood, too mature for childhood's ways, too childish to assume womanly duties and responsibilities. They will have to see-saw along with her in order to carry her over this crisis.

Accept her as a woman-to-be and talk to her accordingly. Discuss the situation, explaining clearly what is in your mind, what you hope for her, what you fear for her. Talk to her as to a mature personality. Of course, she isn't, but allowing her to feel herself appreciated will rob her of rebellion and allow friendliness to prevail. It is friendliness that must be established between parents and adolescents at this stage of growth. Childhood and its rules are past experiences which we hope have left traces of strength in character. Now responsibility must shift from parents to their halfgrown daughters, or sons. Compromise, friendly relationships, prayers, are in order from now on. While the child must be protected and the woman developed. It is never easy.

COWBOYS GIRD FOR CLASH WITH TOUGH BAY AREA CLUB TOD

Rain Washes Out Friday Night's Contest in Lodi

BOYES SPRINGS, Calif., April 8 (Special)—Rained out of a scheduled exhibition game Friday night in Lodi with Klamath Falls of the Far Western league, the Twin Falls Cowboys today turned to preparation for a tough game Sunday in San Francisco with the Moffett Maticas.

Manager Walley Berger ran his charges through a tough Saturday morning drill in between light rains, but leveled off in the afternoon. Berger rates the Maticas the strongest semi-pro outfit in the San Francisco bay area. The team is made up of former profesational players, including several ex-big leaguers.

Berger is shooting for a win over the semi-pro team. He indicated he would start his top pitching strength against the Maticas. Four pitchers are scheduled to share mound duty. They are Dale Hittle, Ivan Adrianowitz, Dick Tessier and Bill Stites.

So far Berger has not started any of his top hurlers in the two exhibition games played. The Cowboys dropped an 8-7 decision to Santa Rosa Junior college and a 4-3 game to Stockton.

Tentative Lineup

Berger said his tentative starting lineup will include Dick Lucchesi in center, Joe Chulla on second, Red Jessen on first, Frank Weaver on third, Frank Campbell in left, Lou Vitous in right, Frank Malah on third, Clarence Malmberg at short and Hal Danielson behind the plate. Thomas McKelvy and Tom Self also are slated for catching chores.

The Cowboys have their fingers crossed that the Sunday game will not be rained out. The forecast is for continued showers.

Another exhibition game is scheduled Tuesday when the Cowboys invade Berkeley for a game with the powerful University of California Bears.

Annual Spring Clash

The California-Cowboy series is becoming an annual spring clash. In 1948, Twin Falls downed the Bears, while the Pacific Coast conference power downed the Cowboys in 1949.

The Cowboys have inherited their mound staff with the announcement of a player deal with Phoenix, Ariz., a club which has a verbal working agreement with the New York Yankee farm system.

Pitchers Erickson and Comer were optioned to the Arizona club, while pitcher Morris and Carr were sold outright. Another pitcher will join Phoenix soon, but his name has been withheld by Yankee Scout Joe Devine. Erickson, Comer, Morris and Carr have been pitchers in the two exhibition games played to date by the Cowboys.

Returns Contract

Richard Fallon, 6-month working second baseman, has returned his signed contract to the club and is expected to report here immediately from his New Orleans, La., home. Fallon has two years of experience in southern leagues.

From Twin Falls it was learned Club Business Manager Jack Radtke will leave for camp Monday, arriving here Monday. President Maury Doerr has been in camp for the past week.

Amateur Ring Tourney Open On East Coast

BOSTON, April 8 (AP)—That annual three-day extravaganza, the 42nd national AAU championship boxing tournament, will begin Monday noon in Boston garden.

More than 150 youngsters—the best that could be found in tournaments over the country and in the Hawaiian islands—will compete for eight individual titles and for team prizes.

29 Sections Represented

Before the first pair enters the ring, representatives of some 29 sectional associations will have arrived in town.

In the past few years boxers from the far west and Hawaii have dominated the tournament.

Three Oakland, Calif., boxers, two from Honolulu and one each from Salt Lake City, Philadelphia and Gary, Ind., won last year's titles.

Most devotees of amateur boxing would not be surprised should some titles wind up in the same areas this year.

Utah Boy Favored

For instance, Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, is a favorite in the welterweight division. Fullmer, who comes from the same section as Rex Layne, last year's heavyweight champion, and Jay Lambert, 1948 Olympic representative, was in this competition in 1948.

That year the Utah farmer boy won into two-time champion Johnny Gonsalves in a quarter-final bout.

Earl Williams, a navy sailor boxing for the Hawaiian team, is another highly likable kind of competitor in the 147-pound class.

San Diego Whips Los Angeles 11-5

By The Associated Press

San Diego, rapping five pitchers for 18 hits, made it four in a row over Los Angeles with an 11-5 victory Saturday at Los Angeles in a Pacific Coast league contest.

At San Francisco, Sacramento put down an eighth inning uprising by San Francisco and won 4-3 in the first of a two games each. The Solons' Joe Marty homered with a mate aboard in the first.

Rain washed out scheduled games between Oakland and Portland at Portland and Hollywood and Seattle at Seattle.

Vandals Sign to Play Wyoming Gridmen

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, April 8—The University of Wyoming today went on the University of Idaho's 1950 football schedule with the signing of a two year home-and-home pact between the Vandals and the Cowboys, according to Gale L. Mix, secretary of the faculty athletic committee. With eight games now scheduled, Idaho is negotiating for a possible ninth, tentatively set for Oct. 21.

The Wyoming team will play at Moscow in the Dad's day contest Nov. 4, while Idaho will open the 1951 season at Laramie, Wyo., on Sept. 22.

The signing of Wyoming, 1949 Skyline Six champions, assures the Vandal fans of three home contests in 1950. Previously Idaho had signed for home-and-home games with the University of Utah and Utah State college.

In listing the games for 1950 season, Mix said the Vandals had moved into the Border conference for a game signing with Texas Western on Oct. 7 at El Paso, Tex. Texas Western, formerly known as Texas Miners, has long been a football power in the highly competitive southwest section.

Wyoming had an excellent record during the 1949 season with a 10-game schedule. They were undefeated in conference play and lost only to Baylor of the southwest circuit outside the conference. Wyoming scored 375 points for the season while their opponents counted only 65 points.

Texas Western tied for third spot in the Border conference with four wins and two losses but their overall nine-game schedule shows them second only to the winner Texas Tech with seven wins and two losses. Texas Western scored 259 points and allowed the opposition only 93 markers.

Mix said the conference game at Moscow with Oregon on Oct. 14 had been scheduled as homecoming day.

The Idaho 1950 football schedule as it stands now:

Sept. 22—Utah at Boise.
Sept. 30—Montana at Moscow.
Oct. 7—Texas Western at El Paso.
Oct. 14—University of Oregon at Moscow (Homecoming).
Oct. 21—Negotiating.
Oct. 28—Washington State at Pullman.
Nov. 4—Wyoming at Moscow.
Nov. 11—Oregon State at Corvallis.
Nov. 18—Open.
Nov. 25—Arizona State at Tempe.

Grid Schedule Is Announced For Wyoming

LARAMIE, Wyo., April 8 (AP)—The University of Wyoming's nine-game football schedule for 1950 has been completed by the signing of the University of Idaho, it was announced today.

The defending champions of the Skyline Six will meet the Vandals of the Pacific Coast conference at Moscow on Nov. 4. The return engagement will be at Laramie on Sept. 22, 1951.

The Idaho date gives the Cowboys five games abroad, four at home. Highlight of the home card will be the Baylor game on Sept. 23, dedicating Wyoming's new 18,000-seat War Memorial stadium. But Montana State college draws the honor of playing the first game on the new turf on Sept. 16.

The complete schedule:

Sept. 16—Montana State at Laramie.
Sept. 23—Baylor at Laramie.
Sept. 30—Open.
Oct. 7—Colorado A and M at Laramie (Homecoming).
Oct. 14—Utah State at Logan.
Oct. 21—Utah at Salt Lake City.
Oct. 28—New Mexico at Laramie.
Nov. 4—Idaho at Moscow.
Nov. 11—Brigham Young at Provo.
Nov. 18—Open.
Nov. 25—Denver at Denver (Thanksgiving).

HURLS PERFECT GAME

BOISE, April 8 (AP)—Glenn Winslow of Eastern Oregon College of Education hurled a no-hit, no-run game today as the Mountaineers baseball team split a twin bill with Boise junior college.

Brook, Tribe Rookies Are Rated as Tops

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 8 —Bobby Morgan, Brooklyn, and Luke Easter, Cleveland, approach opening day as best bets to cop rookie of the year awards.

The 1950 crop of newcomers is just average. Only a handful is sure to be in the opening day lineups. The best of the bunch may be a virtual unknown like Roy Sievers of the St. Louis Browns last year, or one still to graduate, like Don Newcombe in 1949.

In addition to Morgan and Easter the rookies certain to start April 18 are first baseman Jack Harshman of the New York Giants, third baseman Bill Serena of the Chicago Cubs and centerfielder Irv Noren of Washington.

Bilko Rests on Record

Steve Bilko, hulking St. Louis Cardinal, probably will open at first base but not on what he has shown in spring training. Manager Eddie Dyer still goes along with the big fellow because the record books show he's a right handed hitter with potential power.

In like fashion, Billy Southworth probably will have Sam Jethroe, Negro speedster, in centerfield for the Boston Braves. Jethroe came to Boston from the Brooklyn farm system in a $250,000 deal. Slow to start, he flopped badly in the early exhibitions. Of late he has come on fast. If he can relax and loosen up, he may make it.

Rowen Has Many

The St. Louis Browns, of course, will present the most rookie candidates. They'll have a new infield all around with second baseman Owen Friend and shortstop Billy De Mars in the freshman class. Kenny Wood, another new face, will be in the outfield.

Easter, the Negro slugger who hit .353 and 35 homers in 80 games for San Diego, has taken over right-field at Cleveland. A big powerful man—6-foot-4 and 235 pounds—Easter is tabbed "can't miss" by all who saw him in the minors. There are doubts about his fielding but his bat figures to carry him.

Teammates Don't Resent Fat Pay For DiMag, Ted

TAMPA, Fla., April 8 (AP)—What do the teammates of Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams think about the reported $100,000 annual salary each of these stars is getting?

Here's what some of them say:

"Personally," observed Johnny Pesky, star third baseman of the Boston Red Sox, "I don't believe any ball player is worth more than $35,000 a year—on his ability alone.

"However, guys like Williams, DiMaggio, Musial and Kiner deserve all the money they make. Why? Because they bring the people to the parks. They've got color. The fans pay the buck and a half to watch them hit."

And—Tommy Henrich? Does he resent Joe DiMaggio's $100,000 salary?

Resent it? asked Henrich, a $40,000-a-year man himself. "On the contrary, I think the Yankees are not paying him enough. Joe is the greatest player in the game today. Who brings more prestige and money to the club than Joe?"

NCAA's Chief Sees Change In Sport Code

CHICAGO, April 8 (AP)—Hugh C. Willett, president of the National Collegiate Athletic association, came out today in favor of "flexible" changes in the sanity code—a document which if sternly enforced could end American college ranks.

The code governs the aid given college athletes to keep them in school. This if limited now to tuition. Southern schools claim this is not sufficient. Critics of the code declare it ignores the realities of American college football, chief of which is the money given privately by enthusiastic alumni to star athletes.

Should Meet Conditions

"I am very much concerned with seeing to it that we have a code that can meet different conditions around the country," said Prof. Willett in an interview after the close of an NCAA executive committee meeting here, before returning to the University of Southern California.

"I hope that out of our meeting will come some modification of the code to make it flexible," he said.

The committee and the 20 heads of college conferences received six concrete proposals for changing the code.

Details Are Secret

Their exact details are being kept secret until the NCAA "screening committee" looks them over and passes them on to the council, which meets in August.

Prof. Willett, who said the six proposals ranged all the way from virtually no change in the code up to "food and room across the board" said all six had three basic principles in common.

"One, each was based on actual need on the part of the recipient-athlete; two, each set up a standard of academic attainment; and three, each would be administered by the regular agencies of the colleges."

Buhl, Jerome, Twin Falls Set Early Pace in Class A League

Buhl, Jerome and Twin Falls continued to be deadlocked for the lead of the Magic class A baseball league today following completion of the first week of scheduled Friday.

Buhl edged Filer 5-1 and Jerome downed Gooding 12-8 in Friday contests. Twi defeated Burley 14-5 Thursday. All three of the winners now have two victories to their credit, while Gooding, Filer and Burley have yet to break into the win column.

Buhl pushed four runs across the plate in the first inning against Coach Mack Fienniken's Wildcats and it proved to be enough as pitchers Yingst and Sorensen limited the offensive ball for the Indians.

Buhl, the defending league champion, hopped on Williamson in the first for a walk, double, triple and single before he left the mound in favor of Dale Brigham. Brigham allowed Buhl a single run in the sixth.

Filer Scores One

The Wildcats broke into the score column with a single run in the last half of the third inning.

Brigham doubled for Filer, while Denny doubled and Reynolds tripled for Coach Floyd Lutt's Buhl nine.

Tommy Moeller hurled three-hit ball for Coach LaVere Cooch's Jerome Tigers while setting the Senators down for a 12-3 defeat in five innings of action. The game was called at the end of the fifth by mutual consent.

Silver Leads Jerome

Mel Silver led the Tigers at the plate by knocking two doubles in three trips. Jerome iced the game in the initial inning with a nine-run outburst followed by single tallies in the second, third and fourth.

The Tigers stole two bases and pulled one double play from Moeller to Van Wagoner. Both teams committed three errors.

Games Tuesday will pair Buhl at Twin Falls in a game scheduled for Jayces park, Jerome at Filer, and Burley at Gooding.

Golf Round Is Extended

The deadline for qualifying for the best ball tournament at the Twin Falls municipal golf course, Professional Earl Schnetter announced Saturday.

He said poor golfing weather has stopped many golfers from turning in qualifying 18-hole scores.

The deadline has been extended to next Sunday evening. To date, 40 golfers have qualified for the first major tournament of the season.

Bill Peters has the medalist score among the qualifiers with a 74. Behind him are Ed Martindale and Dr. W. M. Peterson with 79s.

Fight Mystery Clears in Kansas

KANSAS CITY, April 8 (AP)—A Puerto Rican mechanic who bilked a Wichita, Kans., fight crowd by using the name of top-flight boxer Tuzo (Kid) Portugues of Cuba, asserted today he had told the promoters all about it before the phony fight.

He gave his name as Jose Rafael Aviles, 23.

Max Waxgarin, the Wichita promoter who staged the fight between "Portugues" and Alvin Williams, 191-pound Indian, stoutly denied Aviles' statement. The bout, fought yesterday, ended with Aviles taking the 10-count in two minutes and 33 seconds—and about $725 of Yeargain's money for his efforts.

Rupert Cindermen Place Second as Two Records Fall

Twin Falls' small but powerful track and field team defended its team title in the annual Hank Powers relays here Friday afternoon in the first taste of major track action for Magic Valley class A schools. The Bruins scored 39 points to carry off top honors, followed by the Rupert Pirates, who showed promise of being a district threat before the season is over, with 30. Other scores were Burley 18, Buhl 17, Jerome 9 and Oakley 7.

Two meet records were shattered and two two new records for new events were established during the event.

Times were generally fast considering the meet was the first of the season and all teams have been hampered by a lack of practice sessions because of poor weather.

Clark Breaks Record

Emerson Clark, five-foot, six-inch star, broke a meet record in the mile run with an outstanding time of 4:47.9. The old record was 4:35.5 set by Neaves of Jerome in 1941.

It was Clark's first attempt at the mile. Last year he concentrated on the 440-yard dash and relay events. The Twin Falls cinderman took the lead at the gun and held the margin throughout the race. He finished half a lap ahead of his nearest competitor and had completely lapped three other racers.

Hurdles Sets March

The Rupert mile relay team also set a new meet record with a time of 3:44.5. Coach George Hays' team was half a lap ahead of Twin Falls, which placed second.

New marks also were set in the varsity and junior varsity shuttle hurdle events. The races have been shortened this year.

Times for both events were slightly lower in comparison with the longer races.

Field Relay Events

Relay team events also were held in the pole vault and shot put. The combined distance of four men in each of the events determined the winners. The mile race was the only individual event.

Twin Falls' 880-yard relay team came within two-tenths of a second of equalling another meet record.

Complete results include:

Mile run—Clark, Twin Falls; Dalph, Twin Falls; Jiles, Rupert, and Shuler, Burley. Time: 4:47.9 (new record).

Relay race—Burley, Oakley and Rupert. Time: 3:44.5.

Varsity shuttle hurdle—Burley, Rupert, Twin Falls and Buhl. Time: 49.5 (new record).

Eden Defeats Hazelton With 8-Run Rally

EDEN, April 8—Scoring eight runs in the last of the sixth inning, the Eden Grizzlies came from behind to defeat their arch rival, Hazelton, 13-7 in a South Side league contest.

Hazelton jumped on starting pitcher Thornton for seven runs in the second inning before relief hurler Newbry could put out the fire. Several costly Eden errors aided in the Hazelton rally.

Newbry went on to hold the Badgers scoreless for the remainder of the game while striking out six and not walking a man.

Henry and Meester doubled for the winners and Caslin collected a triple for Hazelton.

WSC Opens Grid Practice Monday Under New Coach

PULLMAN, Wash., April 8 (AP)—Forest Evashevski blows his first whistle as Washington State college football coach Monday when the Cougars open spring practice.

Evashevski will have 20 letter men back from the 1949 team coached in the T-formation by Phil Sarboe. The new coach plans to install the single wing.

Sixteen of the returning veterans were sophomores on the last Cougar team which won three and lost six. Sarboe resigned at the end of the season.

Evashevski, the former star quarterback at Michigan, will have a talented list of freshmen available for the 30 days of spring training. The Cougars lost 17 lettermen by graduation.

VANDALS DUMP SPOKANE

LEWISTON, April 8 (AP)—The University of Idaho was in charge all the way in defeating the Spokane Indians of the Western International league 11-5 Friday.

Baski Makes Return Bid, Scoring TKO

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—Big Joe Baksi launched another comeback campaign in high gear Friday by stopping Bernie Reynolds in two minutes, seven seconds of the seventh round of the 10-round feature bout at St. Nicholas arena.

Baksi, Kulpmont, Pa., outweighed his Fairfield, Conn., rival, 217 to 196.

Baksi, a 5 to 8 favorite, floored Reynolds seven times in the brief battle.

The 28-year-old Baksi, hoping to come back into the big time, dropped Reynolds for no-count in the first, for two in the second, for six, nine and no count in the sixth, and for seven and no count in the seventh.

Referee Ruby Goldstein halted the bout as soon as Reynolds hit the deck for the second time in the seventh. The ex-coal miner floored Reynolds with left hooks to the body to end the scrap.

A crowd of 2,812 paid $6,567 to see the sizzler.

Until the sixth, Reynolds, despite the two earlier knockdowns was very much the running. He staggered Big Joe with a right to the jaw and swept the fourth and fifth frames as he outpunched his lumbering opponent.

But in the sixth Baksi clipped the oncoming Reynolds with a left and right to the chin and that was the beginning of the end.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 8 (AP) — Wilbur (Sparky) Stalcup said Friday he has decided to remain at the University of Missouri as basketball coach and has turned down an offer for a similar job at Michigan State college.

Officials Mum as Scribe Claims Howell to Leave

SPOKANE, April 8 (AP)—The people concerned had "no comment" Friday night on a published report that Football Coach Dixie Howell may be close to a parting of the ways with the University of Idaho.

Herb Ashlock, sports editor of the Spokane Chronicle, wrote in his column that after the 1949 season Howell payed his own way to the national coaches meeting in New York and "did a little shopping on his own."

Howell is under contract to coach the Vandals this fall. The contract expires in December.

Ashlock said "The root of the trouble, I suppose, can be traced in part to the Vandals' football record" (won 3, lost 3 in 1949). He said Howell was also "somewhat irritated" when Idaho canceled two scheduled football games with California schools in order to play teams closer to home.

J. E. Buchanan, president of the university, said he had no comment on the story. So did Athletic Director George Greene. Howell said the same thing, but he used a few more words.

"I have no comment" to make. Comment should come from other sources at the university. I am in no position to speak," Dixie said.

Howell, who was a star halfback in his college days at Alabama in the mid 1930s, came to Idaho three years ago.

Ashlock wrote that Idaho fans expected the team to move out of the Pacific Coast conference cellar after Howell arrived and 'are disappointed that the Vandals still lose more often than they win.

The biggest blow came last fall when the Vandals were dropped 13 to 13 by their arch-rivals Washington State. WSC is located only nine miles away from the Idaho campus at Moscow.

The Vandals haven't beaten WSC in 25 years.

Last winter Idaho called off games with the University of California and University of Southern California.

Ashlock said Howell's "basic reason" for signing at Idaho was to "get a foothold" in the Coast conference and that he didn't like the idea of playing smaller northern schools in place of the two California powerhouses.

Manager Al Lopez indicated he'll try to work in Rentelli as his regular centerfielder at Indianapolis.

Pirates Farm High-Priced Dino Restelli

PITTSBURGH, April 8 (AP)—Roy Hamey, the Pittsburgh Pirate general manager who is a mighty fast man with a buck, took a potential $42,000 loss philosophically today.

Just one of those things, Just one of those things," Hamey declared a few hours after the Bucs optioned outfielder Dino Restelli to Indianapolis of the American association.

Set League Afire

Restelli is the young man who gave Hamey high blood pressure and set the National league afire for a short time last year when he broke in with a flurry of high-powered hitting.

In his first 12 games with the Pirates he belted seven homers and his batting average soared past the .350 mark. That was in June.

By the time the season had ended, Restelli had hit 12 homers in 72 games. On his second trip around the circuit, the National league's pitchers had found a weakness in Restelli's armor. He wound up the season with a meager .260 batting average.

Has Sore Arm

In spring training sessions, Restelli has been bothered by a sore arm.

He gave no signs of being the same man who hit .321 in 72 games for the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast league before the Bucs brought him up in midseason.

Fourteen members, two guests and the leader and assistant leader were present at the April meeting of the Flying Fingers 4-H club Thursday night.

Mary Boyd was hostess to the group at her home. Eleanor Molitor, president, conducted the business session. The evening was spent cutting out slips and pajamas and hemming tea towels.

Refreshments were served by Miss Boyd and her mother, Mrs. Cecil Boyd.

Guests were Mrs. F. J. Molitor and Mrs. Cecilia Hankins. Mrs. Robert Anthis is leader and Mrs. Robert White is assistant leader.

Next meeting will be held Thursday, May 4, at the home of Ethel and Jeanine Jasper.

City Preparing to Assist in Cleanup

Housewives are getting the spring housecleaning itch and the city of Twin Falls will do its share April 17 through April 25, City Manager William R. Smith announced on Saturday.

The cleanup campaigns have been conducted for more than 20 years, city officials said. All residents are requested to pile trash such as tree trimmings, leaves and lawn rakings in alleys to be collected by city trucks.

"This annual affair is an attempt by the city to relieve its citizens of rubbish accumulated during the winter and to start off the summer months with an all-around cleaner city," Smith said.

Widow Awarded Full Title to Car

Full title or payment to a 1949 auto was granted Mrs. Marilyn Brust in district court Friday afternoon in a default judgment against Mrs. John F. Brust.

The suit was filed Dec. 27, 1949, and claimed Mrs. John F. Brust exercised "undue influence" over her son, Richard L. Brust, when he was critically ill in the Twin Falls county hospital.

The mother obtained title to the vehicle while her son was "mentally incompetent," the complaint of Mrs. Marilyn Brust claimed. The son died shortly after the suit was filed.

Smith and Jacob represented Marilyn Brust.

'50 Mark Set For Building During Week

Building permit requests for an estimated $164,044 in proposed construction and remodeling were filed this week with the city clerk, making the week the highest so far this year.

Even without the $100,000 request for an apartment project filed Friday by H. A. Kohlruss, the permits total $3,239 above the next highest week, March 13 to 18, when $60,205 in requests were entered. The first total is $103,239 above the other high point.

This week's permit requests are $104,074 above the $59,970 in permit requests filed last week.

Two requests were filed Saturday. Clara Bilhiar filed an application to glass in a porch at 1025 Shoshone street north. Cost was given as $500.

Alden Shaw wants to re-side a house at 1425 Fifth avenue east. Imitation brick would be used. The work is estimated to cost $100.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

By Times-News Correspondents and Staff Writers

It seems the women who conducted HAGERMAN'S Red Cross drive had a problem not generally experienced in Magic Valley—that of trying to talk most people out of making their contributions too large.

Because Hagerman for years has topped its quota and because this year's goal was smaller, Mrs. Glen Bell, chairman, made it plain that contributors were not expected to give as freely as in the past. Last year, Hagerman residents went $100 over their $900 quota. This year they were given a quota of $250 with instructions if they took in $300 it would be more than sufficient for a community that size.

Practically every person the committee called upon was told, "We aren't collecting as much from each one this year," only to be met with an adamant, "I'm planned on giving this much so this much I give."

Mrs. Bell urged two widows to decrease their donations. One replied she always gave $1 every year and she wasn't going to start changing now. The second was in the habit of giving $5 but she was persuaded to give only $2.50."

Thinking about this unusual discouraging of too generous donations raises the question: Could it be caused by the neighborly type of people which the Hagerman valley attracts or could it be the unintentional psychology of the negative approach?

Maybe it's both. Anyway, Hagerman continues year after year to "run the barrel over for good measure."

Back in 1905, when BURLEY was beginning, the town pump and water tank were in the middle of town. Painted in large letters on the side of the tank was: Burley's Population—10,000 by 1910." The slogan was a bit ambitious perhaps but Burley was growing fast for a youngster.

By 1930 the population was 3,825 and the 1940 census placed it at 5,321. With the growth experienced in the past 10 years, maybe the dream of 1905 citizens won't be so far-fetched. Many believe the 1950 census figure will be close to 10,000.

The Magic Valley square dance festival at JEROME is still the main topic of conversation at almost all gatherings throughout the valley. There is a pro and con on all the callers and according to the majority, the BLISS caller, Paul M. Rye, won the highest favor not only of the dancers but of all the spectators.

Paul has a right charming singing voice and his calling of "My Pretty Girl" brought a hearty clamoring for more and no more he did by calling "Ocean Waves."

The reason the spectators were so impressed by Paul was because they could understand him. Most callers are difficult to understand unless you're a dancer and have practiced the dance umteen times so you go ahead and dance whether you can understand the caller or not.

All in all it was a very night of entertainment and highly successful, thanks to the untiring efforts of Ona and Bob Daley, who were awakened early in the morning and late at night with calls from all over the state for dance tickets. A tidy sum has been realized from the event which will purchase modern play equipment for the Lincoln school.

In fact the affair has been so talked about all over that it is being planned as an annual event for Jerome.

At KIMBERLY, there's a wonderful little lady whose grit and courage and sense of humor have inspired all who have known her the many years she has been in Magic Valley. She's Mrs. Grace O'Donnell Ehrlich, pioneer through and through.

The first kindergarten teacher in Idaho, she taught at Wallace before coming to SPRINGDALE where she taught in a log building which still stands. Later she opened a small store at Springdale.

Widowed when her only child was 3 weeks old, Mrs. Ehrlich had to make her minutes and dollars count. She opened a cooking camp for workers on the Minidoka dam and carried for a considerable distance the water needed at her camp.

She entertained the early lonely settlers with her original poems and readings. She has had to slow down a bit these past few years and is living in Kimberly near her daughter, Mrs. Guy Olin.

Mrs. Ehrlich's merry eyes express the humor her lips used to. Not all the pioneers and courageous women arrived in covered wagons and wore sunbonnets.

Through a WENDELL drugstore window was noticed Chuck Miller, the druggist himself, demonstrating an electric razor on the English instructor, Tony Polanis, who came to Magic Valley from Pennsylvania. Knowing Chuck makes one wonder if he finished the job or if it was like a rug cleaner salesman's demonstration—buy a bottle to finish the other half.

Has it ever occurred to you that you enjoy something much more if you find someone else enjoying it along with you? If you want to get double your money's worth, attend the theater some evening when there is a good comedy and the Chuck Millers are there.

His contagious laugh, deep and mischievous, booms out all over the place and it's known that where there's a portion of the comedy of life, there you will find Chuck Miller.

Don't you wish you were a senior in high school again? 'Twas a week ago today that SHOSHONE seniors trooped over to Mrs. E. E. Supt. and Mrs. Bill Powers, Class Adviser and Mrs. Robert Sherman and Hazel Cole brought their appetites along, too.

Trouble came double for Harvey Smith, trouble shooter for the CAREY telephone exchange. Harvey had an appointment with the dentist to have a number of teeth extracted. What he hadn't reckoned with was the impending disaster when the wind blew a tree over on the telephone lines.

Harvey kept his dental appointment, all right, but the next day saw him climbing poles in an effort to repair damage and get the lines in service again. The wind almost tore him from his elevated perch but he gritted his teeth against his sore gums and carried on.

Freakish spring weather put snowdrifts across Camas county roads, before changing the snow to "floods," and gave an expectant pap a rough hustle in being rushed to the hospital.

Unable to use the highway then, Smith was rushed from Hill City to Corral on the railroad section crew's motor car. At Corral he hitched a ride to Fairfield with the mail truck driver, Charlie Stevens, and arrived in Gooding by mid-afternoon.

Smith happily announces his son was born three hours later. Latest reports are that mother, son—and father—are all doing fine.

This it is hoped, will end the winter's tales for this season, but spring in Magic Valley hasn't always lived up to hopes.

Dallon Peterson, 3-year-old son of the Julius Petersons of Moscow, was visiting his aunts at the Nelson King home near Wendell. Inspecting the pasture where the dairy cows were eating, he spied their white breath in the frosty morning air and exclaimed, "Look, they're boiling!"

Adding to life in Magic Valley is this KETCHUM trio, part of the skit which took top honors in HAILEY'S "Legion Loonies." In this highly eloquent shot, left to right, are Rud Hegstrom, Mrs. Charles Helm and Charles Helm. The Helms used to live in TWIN FALLS. The name of their routine is "Corn, Corny and Cornier." Helm wrote the script and his wife directed it. The skit, "Ketchum Holler," may be shown elsewhere in Magic Valley, according to current talk. (Crabtree photo—staff engraving)

State Homemaker Degree Is Won by Jerome Senior Girl

JEROME, April 8—Phyllis Lopez, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lopez, was one of five members of the Future Homemakers of America who received the state homemaker degree at the organization's recent state convention in Boise. Only seven-of-the-1,000-members in Idaho hold this degree.

Miss Lopez applied for her state homemaker degree last January. It is an honor which requires extra work in the organization. In receiving the degree, she attended her fifth FHA convention. She has gone to one national, and two state conventions.

Last year she wrote and directed a play explaining the organization and development of the FHA. This was presented to local organizations. She wrote a group reading which was presented at the state convention last year.

She was asked to present this reading on the degrees of achievement at the national convention last June in Santa Barbara, Calif. Later her permission was asked for its publication in the Teen Times magazine.

She has been chairman of the degrees committee two years and is vice president of the Jerome chapter. She was a guest at the northern Idaho officer training camp at Lake Chatcolet last summer, where she was in charge of singing.

Miss Lopez is planning to attend the University of Idaho, Moscow, next fall, to major in home economics and journalism. Attending the fourth annual state convention in Boise was Mrs. Lopez, chapter mother, two delegates and one representative.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

If Christ Be Not Risen

By C. M. YADON
Pastor, First Pentecostal Church

Three days and three nights in Joseph's tomb. The prayers of his disciples could make it no less. The combined forces of the underworld could hold him no longer. He arose, broke the bonds of death and arose the third day, according to the scripture. The teaching of the resurrection is among the first principles of the doctrine of Christ.

Rev. Yadon

If you are a Christian, you believe in the resurrection of Christ. The Apostle Paul found certain people in the church of Corinth that did not believe in the resurrection of the dead. Some such people may be found in the church today. How these people can consider themselves Christians and not believe in the resurrected, living Christ is hard to understand. There have always been those who doubt and choose to dwell on the negative side of life. We would make no attempt to convince the gainsayers, but we simply take that which is written and stand on it as the Word of God.

The Chief Apostle said, "If Christ be not risen, then our preaching is vain and your faith also is vain. We are false witnesses of God." If we are false witnesses, we are not worthy of the respect of our friends. If we are preaching a Christ that does not live, our labors are fruitless; and churches are built in vain. We are vain and pretentious and are not worthy to be called Christians.

The consolation that has come to you in the storms of life is vain. That feeling of certainty which has brought you assurance and new strength is only a product of your imagination if Christ be not risen.

If Christ be not risen, you are yet in your sins and all the teaching of the atoning blood of Christ is false. The Lamb of God died in vain. All the joy that has come to your heart as a believer is empty and meaningless. The blood of the martyrs of Jesus has been sacrificed for naught.

If Christ be not risen, your loved ones that have fallen asleep have perished. The kind words that were spoken by the minister and friends were not true. The prophetic voice of the Psalmist who spoke of the glory of the resurrection is vain.

If Christ be not risen, we are of all men most miserable. Hope has vanished. There is nothing before us but eternal night. Those who abide in the darkness of unbelief are miserable people. They may surround themselves with everything of life, still they are unhappy. It is only when they turn from the darkness and misery of unbelief to the simple truth of the word of God that they find the real spirit and meaning of the resurrection.

What is the meaning of the resurrection of Christ to the people of the 20th century? 1950 finds us a great nation with a freedom of worship that is enjoyed by no other people. Our Pilgrim fathers who planted Christianity on the continent were men who believed in the resurrected Christ whom they worshipped and in whose name they established a nation where freedom of worship has been maintained throughout the years.

Real christianity has braved the storms through the centuries, and we are confident that the church of Jesus Christ will triumph through faith in the risen Lord in these troublesome times.

Mail Delivery Speeded in 50 Years

When the late Frank T. Hann started carrying the mail on a star route at Peculiar, Mo., some 50 years ago he used the team and delivery wagon pictured above . . .

. . . but when transferred to route 4 at Buhl he changed to this horse and buggy, 30 inches wide and equipped with a coal burning stove for winter comfort.

Now the mail is delivered on route 4 in this snappy convertible by Grandson Harley Hann, whose father, Walter Hann, is Buhl's assistant postmaster. (Staff engravings)

Youth, 20, Takes Over Grandfather's Mail Route; Bygone Times Reviewed

By HUGHETTE WINEGAR

BUHL, April 8—The Hann family of Buhl has achieved an enviable record in the service of the United States mail system. Three generations of the family have a combined record of more than one-half century.

The late Frank T. Hann transferred to the Buhl postoffice from Peculiar, Mo., in 1915 and started service as a mail carrier on the newly established route four.

His son, Walter Hann, joined the service in 1917, and his grandson, Harley Hann, started work as a rural carrier on March 27, on the route inaugurated by his grandfather.

Frank T. Hann started his postal career as a rural mail carrier on a star route in 1899, from West Union to Peculiar, Mo. His contract called for six days delivery per week and paid $130 a year. A star route carrier takes mail from one postoffice to another with no side stops.

In 1902 he became the first rural carrier at the postoffice at Peculiar, and continued on this route until 1915, at which time he transferred to the Buhl office. Because of bad roads all mail deliveries were made by team and wagon.

Runaways were frequent, but according to his son, Walter Hann, assistant postmaster in Buhl, he never incurred any serious injuries outside of a severe shaking up from time to time even though these runaways invariably ended in an upset.

The mail wagon driven by the elder Hann in the early days was a miniature affair, measuring only 30 inches from side to side. For comfort in the winter a coal burning stove was installed and the driver took along a supply of coal for the burner.

Being a practical man Hann took advantage of the abundant supply of cottontail rabbits along his route, and took along a gun to shoot them, thereby augmenting the family meat supply.

When Hann made the transfer to the Buhl office in 1915 he and his brother-in-law rented what was called an emigrant car from the railroad to move the two families and their belongings. This was a common practice at the time and made it possible for a family to move a considerable distance with no waiting for the household goods to arrive. Upon his arrival in Buhl, Hann was assigned to the newly established route four which at that time covered a distance of 27 miles. There were less than 100 boxes on the route at that time. In addition to his regular deliveries he also carried mail to the Clear Lakes postoffice, which is no longer in existence.

His regularity on the route was such that the patrons used to remark that they could set their clocks by his appearance. Hann had a certain time to leave the postoffice every day and any delay caused him considerable annoyance.

While on tour of duty in 1923 he suffered a stroke of apoplexy and was retired disabled. He was bedridden until his death in 1925. During his long illness, he was given postcard showers by former patrons of his route.

His son, Walter Hann, entered the postal service in 1917 and after serving 21 years as a postal clerk was promoted to assistant postmaster, which position he has held the past 10 years.

The Buhl postoffice does three or four times the business today it did when I first went into the service," Walter commented, "Christmas is our biggest rush. If we were that busy the year around it would be too much for the force."

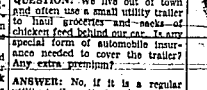

On March 27 the third generation of the Hann family to serve in the postoffice was assigned to his grandfather's old route. Harley Hann took over route four on a transfer from the veterans administration in Boise where he served as a file clerk and mail clerk.

The route is a far cry from the time his grandfather served. Harley covers 51 miles every day, has 318 boxes to serve and in all his route takes care of around 1,200 persons.

The trip is no longer made by horse and buggy, instead it's a snappy convertible. The youngest Hann in the service is 20 years old and in his spare time he and his wife work on their hobby of photography.

Don't Slur Her Easter Hat; It Isn't Crazy Like These

By HELEN NORTON

HAGERMAN, April 8—Quite unintentionally the "mad hat" tea given by the Hagerman Rebekahs this week threatened to become something of a "mad-house."

Suddenly it dawned upon Mrs. Scott Preston, Mrs. Thomas Albertson and Mrs. Bob Owsley they had forgotten they had volunteered for refreshment duties—and what was brought by the other committee member, Mrs. Mark Steele, just wasn't enough to feed the 40 members present.

While lodge was in business session upstairs, the four women dashed down to the recreation hall, swept up the cigarette butts reminiscent of the last Odd Fellows meeting, borrowed a table cloth from the Hagerman hotel, a centerpiece from Mrs. Bob Lawson at the drugstore, found Ray Hite working late in the grocery store, persuaded him to open the store and sell them some cakes. Then they bought ice cream from Brown's cafe. The lunch was ready when the business session ended.

But what a business session it had been! Mrs. Dale Slane, secretary, won first prize for the craziest hat in the "mad hat" contest with a goldfish bowl, full of water and goldfish, strapped atop her head with a strong ribbon. Donald Duck was in the act, too; fishing from the bowl.

Came the reading of the minutes and madame secretary got the giggles so hard the goldfish bowl swayed precariously and her mother, Mrs. Jack Woodhead, had to finish the serious business for her.

Mrs. Bill Meiser's Carmen Miranda hat also won a prize. It was built up high of ribbons of all colors woven bird-nest style, with two pine cones sticking out in front like horns.

Honorable mention went to Mrs. Louise Conrad for her "cat's meow" bonnet—a kitty on her head—and to Mrs. John LeMoyne for a jauntily perched doghouse. Whenever she pulled a concealed string, a small toy dog stuck its head out of the door and took a bow.

New Uniforms to Be Issued Women In Army Service

The adoption of new clothing designed by Hattie Carnegie for the army nurse corps, the womens army corps and the women's medical specialists corps will become official in January, 1951, it was announced Saturday by Sgt. John G. Nordholm, Magic Valley army and air force recruiter.

The wardrobe consists of six different garments designed with the women in mind, in contrast with present uniforms, imitations of those worn by servicemen.

The garments include a two-piece wool uniform with two blouses one of cream-colored rayon for formal wear and the other of beige taupe cotton oxford cloth for duty wear; an overcoat; a wool field jacket and slacks, all made in a taupe shade which tones in with regulation broadcloth, and a summer dress uniform made of white Palm Beach cloth.

Canine Names Are Listed at License Time

Twin Falls is overrun with royalty. Prominently registered are 17 dukes and six duchesses, 15 queens, six kings and 10 listed as Rex, the Latin for King. Among minor royalty are two barons, six princes and one chief.

The "royalty" are among 971 canines licensed by the city clerk in 1949. Also listed and probably considered royalty are Royal Penny II and Barque of Normandy.

Spot, a common name, has 10 followers in the city. Leading name for a cocker spaniel is "Taffy" with seven of them listed.

The military is represented by Major, Sergeant and Army. Included among the numerous names are such titles as Modoc Invasion Beauty and Modoc Master McKerry, Timoshinko III, Petite Noir and Betty of Normandy.

Namesakes of famous pooches also are found. There are roughly a dozen Lassies and one Fala.

Other names include Shrapnel, Turk, Bambi, Luscious, Gunner, Piccadilly, Throck Morton, Tug Along, Moses, Spud, Victory, Chi Ba Ba, Freak, Super Buds, Sujuna Flicka, Pi, Why, Satchel, Yen, Kukuchin, Bum, Puddles and Dash of Pepper.

Dog owners were reminded by Mrs. Constance J. Leiser, city clerk, that annual licenses expire April 30 and new tags must be purchased for the family hound. Licenses for male or spayed female cost $3 and licenses for females cost $5.

Pomona Grangers Support Weed Aid

GOODING, April 8—A proposal for federal aid in weed control has received approval of the Gooding county Pomona Grange.

The proposal was advanced by the Idaho Weed Control congress and is being sent to national congressmen.

Six new members were accepted at the meeting. They are Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thornton, Bliss; Mr. and Mrs. William Ultican, Tuttle, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Fuller, Wendell.

Curriculum Plan Reports Readied

JEROME, April 8—Subcommittees will have reports ready by May 1 for submission to the state curriculum committee for development of a science program in elementary schools.

The announcement was made at a meeting of the committee here. Reports of subcommittee progress were heard. SICE Instructor A. H. Scheare presided.

Many area teachers were present for the meeting.

New Officers Are Installed Here by Homemaker Girls

Officers of the Future Homemakers of America here for next year were installed in a candlelight ceremony in the home economics department at the high school Friday noon.

New officers installed by Outgoing President Delita Grout are Terry Hinkley, president; Kathryn Murphy, vice president; Naomi Huff, secretary, and Norma Reese, treasurer.

Mrs. Cecil Smith, home economics teacher, is sponsor and Mrs. W. M. Grout is chapter mother.

Miss Hinkley says she has big plans for next year. "There will be more activities and I hope we will have a larger, active membership," she said.

Besides her activities in FHA, Miss Hinkley was a member of the Pep club for two years and is a senator of the student body. She has been active in Girls' league for two years. Her name appears on the newly painted honor roll.

At the meeting, Melba Mack spoke on college courses in home economics.

Shoshone Seeks Donors of Blood

SHOSHONE, April 8—A large turnout of donors for the Red Cross bloodmobile which will visit here April 25, is urged by Mrs. P. H. Dinsmore, chairman.

Organizations are being asked to sign up volunteers.

Assisting Mrs. Dinsmore in the project are W. R. Murphy, Frank Dice and Mrs. A. W. Hansen in Shoshone; Mrs. Harry Pridmore, Richfield, and Mrs. Ben Walker, Dietrich.
